Federal Jurist Refuses To Halt Nerve Gas Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal district judge refused today to forbid the sea-bottom burial of 2,675 tons of deadly nerve gas 282 miles off the Florida coast.

But Judge June L. Green coupled her denial of a temporary restraining order with an "urgent request" that the Defense Department designate a different site for the dumping.

She said she had "serious misgivings" about the selected site. Sinking of the ship hulk at a depth of 16,000 feet, she said, posed the danger of a sudden and simultaneous crushing of all of the concrete-encased gas containers.

Judge Green also noted testimony and affidavits submitted to her that this is the first time the Army has planned to dispose of gas at such a great depth.

She also noted that two years ago the Army disposed of gas in 7,000 feet of water off the New Jersey coast and that later checks by Navy scientists had revealed no detectable harm to marine life or anything.

The judge's action came on a complaint by the Environmental Defense Fund, a New York-based citizens' group, and joined by Gov. Claude Kirk of Florida.

The weather, meantime, posed a further challenge to the Army's plans to dump the gas in the Atlantic off Cape Kennedy, Fla.

The Weather Bureau in Miami reported a dangerous tropical depression with winds of 60 miles an hour approaching the Bahamas and Florida.

Although there were no present forecasts of a possible hurricane in the area, Dr. Robert H. Simpson, head of the National Hurricane Center in Miami, said it was possible a hurricane "could come with great suddenness."

Attorneys for the fund indicated they will appeal Judge Green's ruling. They could first go to the U.S. Court of Appeals or directly to a Supreme Court justice in an effort to restrain the Army from proceeding with disposal of the gas at this time.

There was no immediate indication, moreover, about the reaction of the Defense Department and the Army to the judge's "request" that they seek another disposal site "at a reasonable distance" from Sunny Point, N.C., the port of embarkation.

Army officials said loading of the rusty old Liberty ship might be completed today, allowing the vessel and the 2,675 tons of gas to begin the final ocean trip Saturday, a day ahead of schedule.

Plans call for sinking of the LeBaron Russell Briggs and its cargo Tuesday, 282 miles east of Cape Kennedy, Fla.

The suit, contending there are safer ways of disposing of the gas, asked a delay in the operation until alternatives are studied.

Lola Lea, lawyer for the Environmental Defense Fund, argued Thursday that the Army erred in determining the ship will not break up before reaching the bottom of the ocean.

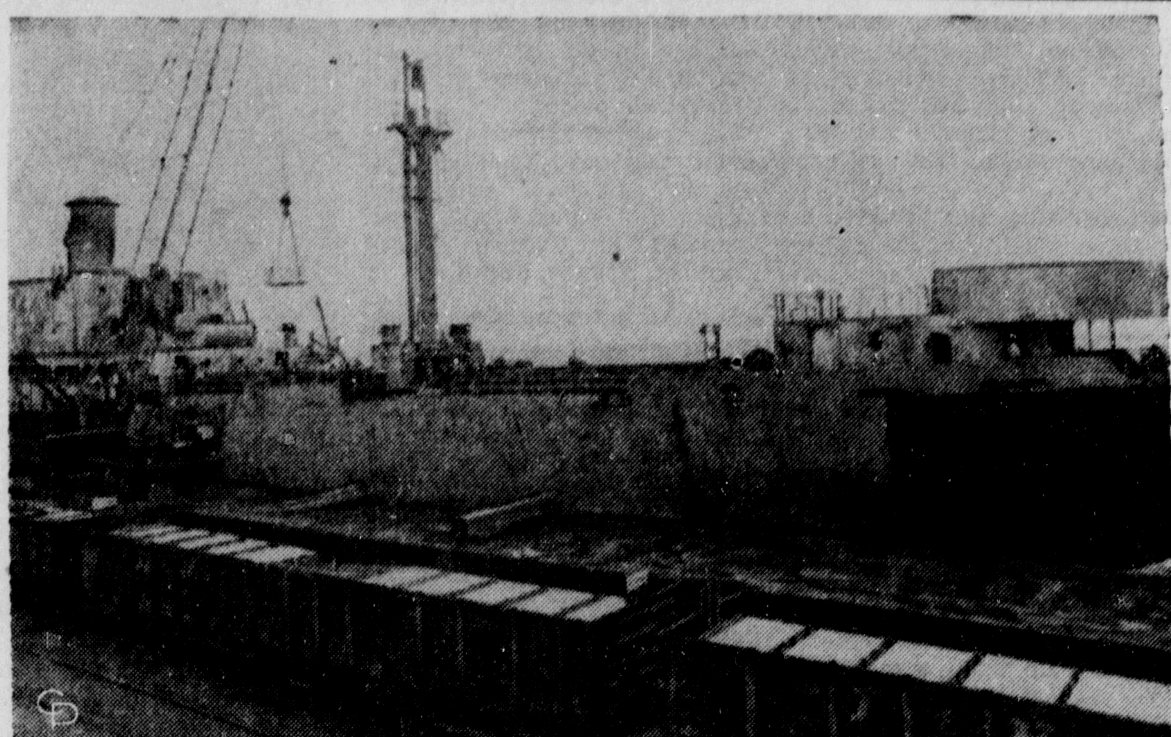

The suit said the ship and concrete coffins containing the gas might break up before reaching bottom, 16,000 feet down. This would allow the gas to escape and contaminate the environment, the suit said.

The Army theory is the ship will sink slowly and ocean pressure will cause the coffins to break up gradually, allowing the gas to escape slowly without harming marine life.

The suit, in which Florida Gov. Claude Kirk joined, also questioned the dumping of 10½ pounds of VX nerve gas contained in a land mine in the shipment.

This gas is a more persistent type than the GB gas which makes up most of the cargo, the suit noted. If released into the water prematurely, it would retain full strength more than 12 years.

Once the GB gas escapes into the water, the Army says, (Please Turn To Page 2)

FDA Reported Set To Ban Food Cyclamates Entirely

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration is expected today to reverse its disputed decision of six months ago and bar use of cyclamates in artificially sweetened diet foods.

The FDA said there will be an announcement on the controversial sweetener after stock markets close this afternoon. Extension of the cyclamate restrictions to all food would have considerable economic impact.

Informed sources said top FDA officials decided Thursday afternoon to remove the sweetener from all foods on recommendations of a special medical advisory panel. The committee only a few months ago suggested the opposite course.

Spokesmen for the agency would neither confirm nor deny the decision.

But more than a month ago, in apparent anticipation of today's announcement, FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards ordered regional offices to stop processing applications for permission to use cyclamates in diet foods.

The government placed phased restrictions on the sweetener last October after it was linked to bladder cancer, birth defects and genetic damage in animals.

Cyclamates were totally barred from soft drinks after the first of this year. The originally announced deadline of February 1 for removal of cyclamates from general purpose foods was postponed till September 1 so canners could sell enormous stocks already on hand.

The FDA said in February that cyclamates could be reclassified as drugs and sold in specially labeled foods for diabetics and the obese after Sept. 1.

These foods could be purchased without prescription in grocery stores.

The ruling permitted food makers to relabel and sell products still remaining after the general ban takes effect September 1.

The spokesman for the National Canners Association said today there are substantial inventories of cyclamate-containing foods, especially fruit, from last fall's canning.

The FDA's probable new ruling against cyclamates in diet foods will therefore strand food makers with millions of dollars worth of remaining stocks.

FDA officials opposed the original decision to reclassify the sweetener from a food additive to a drug and keep it in special food. It was forced on the agency by then Health Secretary Robert H. Finch, FDA officials have testified.

Elsewhere in the war—

Small ambush actions and mopping up operations were reported along the northern coast where U.S. and South Vietnamese forces claimed they killed more than 300 North Vietnamese in fighting Wednesday and Thursday.

The largest allied casualties reported today occurred about 65 miles northwest of Saigon when mortar rounds fired by an American unit accidentally landed on a South Vietnamese position. Eleven government troops were killed, and 24 Vietnamese and two American advisers were wounded.

One harassing action was reported in Cambodia. A military spokesman in Phnom Penh said the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese apparently were occupied with integrating newly arrived reinforcements.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams returned from convalescent leave with his family in Thailand and resumed his duties as commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam. His gall bladder was removed in Japan July 3.

In the major reshuffle of allied forces in the Saigon region, all American combat units except one brigade have been pulled back from the Cambodian border. Most of them have been moved to the northeast and east of Saigon, inland from the South China Sea.

South Vietnamese forces have replaced the Americans along the border west and northwest of Saigon to block North Vietnamese infiltrators, and the Tay Ninh base camp 55 miles northwest of the capital has been turned over to the South Vietnamese 18th Infantry Division. Only a few hundred U.S. support troops remain at Tay Ninh, which once was the base for two American brigades.

While the South Vietnamese army carries out the blocking role in and along the frontier, the protection of the 3.5 million persons living in villages and hamlets in the region is assigned to the militiamen of the Territorial Forces and People's Self-Defense units.

Republican leaders noted the Senate passed the education bill 88-0 in agreeing privately with Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield that the measure would be enacted into law over Nixon's objections.

Nixon objected to the bill because it exceeded budget recommendations by $541 million.

If the President wants to fight inflation effectively, he should use the veto "on some of the wild spending for unproven weapons and on wild spending for his enlarged and expanding war in Southeast Asia," the Texan said.

In June Congress overrode Nixon's veto of a $2.7 billion Hill-Burton hospital construction bill.

In Thursday's House vote on the education measure, 77 Republicans joined 212 Democrats in voting against the President's veto. Supporting him were 101 Republicans and 13 Democrats.

Reshuffling Of Forces Permits Cut

SAIGON (AP) — American forces in the Saigon military region are being cut by about 15,000 men as the result of a major reshuffling of allied units and the transfer of a large base to the Vietnamese, official sources disclosed today.

The sources said two full brigades plus other units would be shipped home from Saigon and the 11 surrounding provinces of the 3rd Military Region. Men who have not completed most of their 12-month tours in Vietnam will be transferred to other units.

Security regulations prohibit publication of the units to be sent back to the United States until the U.S. Command announces them.

Missile Movements Vs. Peace

Israel Taking Stiffer Stand

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel will take a harder attitude toward peace negotiations with the Arabs as a result of Egypt's reported movement of missiles closer to the Suez Canal, authorities said today.

The sources indicated, following a day of consultations among top government leaders, that the Israeli government feels no progress can be made in the talks until the missile issue is cleared up.

There were indications that the government might not name a representative for the talks until it got satisfaction on the missile issue. Asked about this, Foreign Minister Abba Eban said the government considers it "most important" to clarify the matter with the United States.

The government received information earlier this week, and passed it on to Washington, that the Egyptians had moved several SAM anti-aircraft missile batteries to sites 12 and 18 miles from the canal soon after the current cease fire began last Friday night. Egyptian officials in Cairo denied the report.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan told the Knesset, Israel's parliament, that the United States bears a "heavy responsibility" because it proposed the 90-day cease-fire so that indirect peace negotiations might be held again. These had been expected to start soon, in Cyprus or New York, with the special U.N. envoy for the Middle East, Gunnar Jarring, as go-between.

Dayan said Israel has demanded that the United States see to it that the missiles are withdrawn to their previous positions. He also made the text of the truce agreement public for the first time and said the Egyptians violated the "key clause," calling for no change in the military status for 30 miles on either side of the canal, and for neither side to "introduce or construct any new military installations in these zones."

He later sent a formal complaint to Maj. Gen. Ensio Siilasvuo, the Finnish chief of the U.N. observer team in the Middle East, claiming the Egyptian move violated the agreement.

On the eve of the President's meeting with Southern officials, Mitchell said he expects the Supreme Court to decide later this year what steps the Justice Department should take in attacking school segregation in the North.

Mitchell told a Senate committee Thursday his department cannot move against segregation caused by housing patterns until the court acts.

Federal Bureau OKs Rt. 35 Relocation Plan

Location approval for the proposed relocation of 19.1 miles U. S. 35 in Greene and Fayette counties has been received by the Ohio Department of Highways from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

A public hearing on the improvement was held in Jamestown on April 28.

The improvement would start near the intersection of Hoop and Birch roads, at the east end of Xenia bypass, presently under construction, and end at Ohio 729, north of Milledgeville.

Alignment would parallel existing U. S. 35, bypassing Jamestown to the north.

SALT Talk Session Ends; 3rd Readied

VIENNA (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union today completed the second round of their arms talks known as SALT—the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—and agreed to begin a third round in Helsinki Nov. 2.

After 32 secret working meetings in four months, chief delegates Gerard Smith of the United States and Vladimir Semenov of the Soviet Union signed a joint communique at a public ceremony in the Belvedere Palace.

The two governments had agreed in preliminary talks last year in Helsinki to hold alternate sets of working sessions in the Austrian and Finnish capitals. The goal is an agreement to reduce the two superpowers' arsenals of large-size nuclear warheads and the missiles to deliver them.

By agreement, the two delegations preserved unusual secrecy throughout the two-week meetings in Vienna, and there were none of the propaganda barrages which used to accompany all Soviet-American negotiations.

Conference sources said Smith presented an "outline," which reports from Washington said proposed a freeze on strategic weaponry at about the number the two governments now have.

The proposal, it was said, called for an over-all numerical ceiling on each nation's intercontinental ballistic missiles, missiles fired from submarines and long-range bombs, but each government would have some latitude in dividing its total among the various classifications.

Observers here believe that an agreement may be drafted in the next Helsinki round. But some think the talks may move back to Vienna next spring to make the agreement final.

Although the public was left unaware how much progress the talks made, Smith went five times to Brussels to brief America's 14 allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. In July he went three times in eight days to NATO headquarters in the Belgian capital, indicating the negotiations may have reached a delicate stage just then.

Ohio Election Law Ruling Appeal Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A recent federal court ruling that the state's requirements to get on the election ballot were too restrictive will be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

A federal court on July 29 ruled that seven sections of Ohio's election laws were unconstitutional and ordered that Socialist Party candidates be put on the ballot for the Nov. 3 election.

The court also ruled that two independent candidates, Marcia Sweetnam, running for governor, and Robert Stapleton, a candidate for Congress, were kept from the ballot because of state requirements for the number of signatures on nominating petitions.

Robert Macklin, chief counsel for the state attorney general, said the appeal to the high court was not an attempt to block the lower court ruling.

"We feel the legislature should have a Supreme Court decision before they go back into this thing," he said.

No date has been set for the hearing.

Consumers Hold Key To Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's newest economic report shows a "glimmering of a better situation," but the Nixon administration's expected business upturn still depends on what the nation's consumers do with their money in the coming months, economists believe.

Statistics issued by the Commerce Department and the Federal Reserve Board Thursday showed increases in industrial production and personal income during July, while a revised report on Gross National Product disclosed that real production of goods and services rose more than was reflected in the preliminary report for April, May and June.

Oklahoma Convict Prolific Artist

PRISONER HOPES FOR ART CAREER — Leo Darrell Chandler, an inmate of the Oklahoma State Penitentiary, does painting and sculpturing in a tiny loft in a prison building. Although he never had art training before his sentence, he hopes to be released and continue his career.

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — A steep flight of steps lead to a hole in the ceiling and into a tiny cluttered loft workshop. Paintings and sculptures in various stages of completion crowd the room, along with a jumble of artists' tools.

Downstairs is a tiny gallery, hung with paintings which might bring in a few dollars if sold.

Leo Darrell Chandler works in scenes, portraits and still lifes. But he prefers surrealism.

The main difference from his and many another studio is its location at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary. Besides his name, Chandler answers to a number: 76374.

Chandler is a three-time loser, twice from Texas and one from Oklahoma. His latest sentence from Oklahoma County is for armed robbery. His original sentence for 99 years has been reduced to 50.

FEW MEN like serving time but Chandler believes the penitentiary may be the best thing to befall him. In the two years-plus that he has been here he has turned out more than 1,000 pieces of art. Many are hung throughout the prison, including administrative offices.

He has a bit of training in cartooning on the outside, but nothing in fine arts. So far, he says, he is learning by trial and error.

"Mac (nickname for the prison) gave me an opportunity, a place to work all day long.

If you could see what I was producing two years ago and what I'm producing now, it's as different as black and white.

"The ideas and imagination I've always had — the discipline needed to paint came here."

His biggest need, Chandler says, is for professional instruction. "If I had a teacher to tell what was wrong, it would be quicker."

ONE PAINTING has a two-faced figure of Justice melting into a red, white and blue puddle. Behind it the faces of great American presidents carved on Mt. Rushmore are cracking.

The symbolism is blunt.

The picture, Chandler says, indicates that "everything that America is built upon and founded upon is sort of falling apart."

A sculpture shows a human with elongated features chiseling himself from a block of stone. Chandler calls it, "Self made man." His materials were latex paint, sawdust and tissue paper.

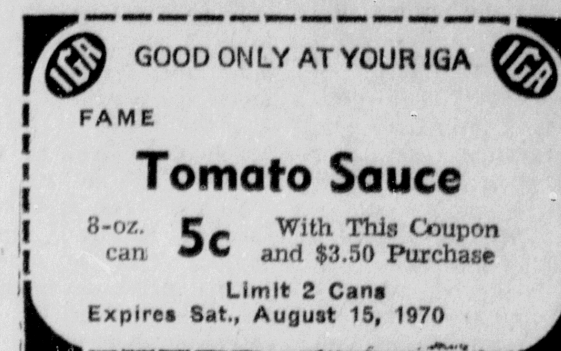

Chandler can't get rich with his paintings here in prison. What little money he makes goes for art books and supplies.

He nurses the hope of reducing his sentence and getting out. He believes this time he can stay outside and have a career ahead of him.

BELLE-AIRE IGA

He Prefers Oxen To Mules

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (AP) — There are two reasons why folks might stop to watch Ellis Gearhart plow his garden in mountainous Eastern Kentucky.

One is Buck, the other John a yoke of 3-year-old oxen which Gearhart prefers over a horse or mule. They're probably the only ones in an area where 50 years ago these draft animals were used to transport heavy gas and oil drilling equipment from the valleys to the hillsides.

"I've got a wagon, a sled and a plow, work'em to anything, even lay off ground," explained Gearhart. "They have to be broke pretty good to lay off ground and plow the rows before planting crops."

"I think they work better than mules. Last year I raised three acres of corn with them."

These 1,000 pound Jerseys responded satisfactorily to their long training under Gearhart.

"I can catch'em anywhere," he said. "They're broke the old fashion way. It takes about two years to train'em, to make'em mind."

"I work'em single, or I work'em double," he continued, "just use a yoke."

The 60-year-old Gearhart hinted at a sort of natural attachment for the oxen — "My dad use to have them."

So, about two and one-half years ago Gearhart bought the two steers, one in Mount Sterling and the other "up river" in Floyd County. The cost of keeping the work cattle is about the same as feeding a horse or mule.

Gearhart figures the oxen could work for 25 years "if you take good care of 'em. I know a fellow that had a yoke that long." During the winter, the oxen are kept in a barn. "Feed'em dry feed and they stand up pretty good," said Gearhart, "but they don't take much to grass."

Gearhart is a mechanic at Hueysville, about 25 miles from Prestonsburg, and his hobbies include antique cars and old mechanical devices, in addition to his oxen.

"I think a lot of them. There's been hundreds of pictures taken," he said in attesting to the popularity of the animals.

Questionable Arguments

The fight over the proposed expansion of the antiballistic missile (ABM) system is shaping up as one of the most critical for the administration since its bout with the Senate over two Supreme Court nominees. Opponents have additional information. Considered in light of the one-vote margin by which the Senate passed the first ABM authorization, the outcome of the present dispute is in doubt.

Opponents of the ABM argue that the system as now contemplated will not work. They say its main goal — to protect Minuteman sites from incoming missiles — will not be achieved. It is interesting that this argument is not being countered with a positive one about the system's workability.

The proponents' main contention — as set forth by Sen. John Stennis, the Senate Armed Service Committee chairman — is that United States negotiators at the strategic arms limitation talks will be deprived of a potent bargaining counter if the ABM development is not continued. It is unclear whether the actual development of the ABM will be used as a bargaining lever in the SALT talks, or whether the threat of potential further development will be used to influence the Soviets.

Neither tack is assured of success. A strong argument can, in fact, be made that further ABM development or even the threat of it may serve to alienate the Soviets from any disarmament talks.

More is involved, too, than simply an extension of the ABM system. It now is reported that, even as the controversy over deployment simmers, the Army is at work on a more advanced — and ultimately more expensive — antiballistic missile system intended to succeed the Safeguard ABM.

The administration's argument for further development of the ABM system is questionable on two grounds. First, critics' objections that the system will not work have not been satisfactorily answered. Second, rather than focusing on the ABM's military potential the administration is utilizing an argument based on a bargaining strategy which in the end may prove to be harmful both to the chances of successful disarmament talks and to our system of defense.

Psychiatrist Needs Some Self-Therapy

DEAR ABBY: The advice you give, "seek professional help," is good, except for one hitch. One should check on any prospective therapist first.

I went to a kook whose office walls are festooned with degrees but he must have left his ethics behind in grade school. Three years and thousands of dollars later, I wound up with a divorce. The grounds? Adultery. The man? My therapist. (And I'm not even good looking.)

Therapy often causes women patients to "fall in love" with their doctors, but the competent (and ethical) psychiatrist knows how to handle this situation.

A little investigating later turned up the facts that my doctor was known for tom-cating around. He is still sitting around "helping" people, raking it in and no doubt putting out.

Me? I have a ruined marriage, two fatherless children and no money. Please print this. It might save some unsuspecting woman from my fate.

BITTER
DEAR BITTER: Most therapists wouldn't touch a patient with a 10-foot pole. You just happened to get the local Lochinvar. However, YOU are in a better position than I am to "save some unsuspecting woman from the same fate." Report your doctor to the county medical society. He desperately needs therapy himself, and shouldn't be permitted to practice.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for 9 years. We have four daughters, 7, 5, 4 and 2. We own our own business, own an average home, and drive an average late model car.

My wife is just about the most wonderful woman in the world. She's a great cook, an excellent housekeeper and a fine mother. She loves to work in the yard, seldom raises her voice or loses her temper and we get along beautifully.

Our children are exceptionally well-behaved and we have wonderful friends. My wife loves my folks, and I love hers.

My problem, Dear Abby, is that I am about to go completely out of my mind trying to figure out how a bum like me ever got into such a wonderful situation. Should I accept the fact that I am the luckiest guy in the world, or should I just keep trying to figure this thing out?

DAVE IN EUGENE OREGON
DEAR DAVE: Accept it. And also knock on wood and bite your tongue.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were eager to entertain at home after our marriage last year. We have invited friends for cocktails, brunch, foreign meals, buffet dinners and after theater suppers. We were pleased with the high number of acceptances, and our guests always seemed to have a good time. As newlyweds we live in a small apartment in a new high-rise building in the "city."

But in spite of the limited area of entertaining, we have opened our doors to about 150 guests some of them four or five times.

However, sadly, we must admit, only three couples have reciprocated so far. The rest are still repeating meaningless phrases, like "drop in sometime," or "we MUST get together soon."

Of course we don't intend to "drop in." We are dropping OFF their names from our lists of future guests. Isn't that the only answer?

DISAPPOINTED
DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Yes. I think in your "eagerness" to get into the social swim, you may have "gone off the deep end." To invite the same people four or five times without a reciprocal invitation from them appears to me as "social climbing." Stick with those who have returned your invitations. If you have only three couples who appreciate your company and hospitality, you're doing well.

DEAR ABBY: What is all this commotion about fat women? My wife is 30 pounds heavier than she was when we were married, but for crying out loud, she is also 30 years older. She is stylish and immaculate and she always looks beautiful because she has sense enough to wear the proper foundation garments.

She doesn't LOOK as heavy as she is because she is never bouncing, sagging or bursting at the seams. Just because a woman is "fat" doesn't mean she has to be sloppy.

Jumping To Conclusions

By Hal Boyie

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

While age fears youth today, youth fears age somewhat too. Young people are particularly distrustful of older people who can compete with them in any field and who refuse to "act their age." They prefer old people who submit tamely to life and have one foot in the grave. Such oldsters are no threat to them.

The average bowler is shorter, heavier and more congenial than the average golfer. He is also more likely to drink beer, smoke a cigar, and have more trouble keeping his shirttail in while he plays.

Think twice before lending money to a guy who habitually wears a tie clip. Anybody who is that neat and orderly in his dress ought to have his financial affairs in order also—and therefore have no need to borrow.

Most of the people who are sentimentally clamoring for the government to save the nation's long-distance passenger trains haven't taken a trip on one in the last 10 years.

It is hard to understand why women are so stoutly resisting the efforts of some fashion designers to get them out of miniskirts and into maxiskirts. After all, Whistler's mother wears a maxiskirt in her son's famous painting—and looks real nice.

An old-timer is a fellow who can remember when folks didn't think much of a medicine unless the label claimed it could cure not only the specific ailment they had but also half a dozen other diseases they might acquire later.

Something good can be found in every dirty movie—but that isn't why people stand in line to see it.

Our values do change with time. Can't you recall when a man thought his date was a gold digger if she ordered the $2 steak a la carte in a restaurant instead of taking the $1 blue plate special like a lady?

The trouble with going to a baseball game anymore is that by the time the game is over you need another shave.

If you jump when the phone on your desk rings, you need to get another job, take a long vacation—or quit dipping into the office ready cash fund.

Life is getting more interesting with each passing generation. The man who used to kill time by going over to the borshepo to watch a haircut now has a grandson who does the same thing by going to the beach and watching a girl in a bikini get a sunburn.

Guide To Good Health

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

WE ALMOST lost our 14-year-old boy because we failed to take the advice of our doctor. You write about this so often that I thought you would be interested in our experience.

Ten hours after he got sick we were told he had appendicitis and that surgery was necessary. We stubbornly refused until he was brought to the hospital with peritonitis, and barely survived.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B., Virginia
Dr. Mrs. and Mrs. B.: I am, of course, very happy that recovery, rather than catastrophe was the result of your experience.

There are some facts about the appendix that should be known and, perhaps, with better understanding dangerous medical situations will be avoided.

The appendix is a narrow sac about three inches long. It is located at the junction of the small and large intestine. Since man has been walking on two feet the appendix has lost whatever function it may have had in primitive times. Such an organ is known as a "vestigial" one.

Appendicitis is an inflammation or an infection of the inner lining of the appendix. When allowed to continue untreated, an abscess may form and even burst, resulting in severe complication, peritonitis. It is still accepted by physicians and surgeons that the diagnosis of acute appendicitis is probably one of the most difficult ones in medicine. It can resemble any other type of abdominal condition. It can even be confused with pneumonia and pleurisy, because of the radiating pains to other parts of the body.

It is for this reason that any recurring attacks of abdominal pain in children or adults should not be tossed off casually as "just another bellyache." A homemade diagnosis is obviously impossible because there are only a few symptoms for most abdominal and intestinal conditions, and these all seem alike.

Nausea, vomiting and abdominal cramps hardly seem definitive enough to make a diagnosis. It is for this reason that the diagnosis is such a difficult and responsible one.

A general bit of advice is probably the single safety factor in this condition. Don't give anyone an enema without first consulting your physician. A simple case of appendicitis can be complicated by this additional pressure.

Eventually, families must learn that surgeons are not as often suspected, "knife-happy." This ridiculous, unsophisticated attitude does a great injustice to the talents and discretion of doctors and surgeons.

Perhaps it will help if readers know that all surgical cases are reviewed by hospital boards after surgery is performed. Details of each case are rigidly gone over so that promiscuous surgery does not occur in modern medicine.

Modern surgery and anesthesia, aided by the antibiotics, make the removal of the appendix a safe and surgery is often the most conservative method of handling this problem. No family should take the responsibility of denying the successful operation. In fact, decisions of their doctors. Fortunately, you escaped the calamity that might have resulted from such poor judgment.

Israelis Would Use The Atom Bomb

By John Chamberlain

This column made a couple of guesses the other day, or maybe deductions, would be a better word for it.

Briefly, it surmised that Egypt's President Nasser wants to cool it in the Middle East because (a) he has suddenly realized that the Israelis have the atom bomb and have let it be known that if they are pushed to an extremity they will use it, and (b) he fears that the discovery of big oil sources in the North Sea will soon make Western Europe independent of Arab oil.

How shrewd the guesses are only time will tell. Nobody will give official confirmation to the bit about Israel having a nuclear capacity. But now comes Hanson Baldwin, former military editor of the New York Times, with a book, "Strategy for Tomorrow," which will be published by Harper and Row on August 19.

I went to work with Baldwin for the Times some 44 years ago, on practically the same day, and I have never known him to make an unconsidered or untrue statement. The Times should never have retired him; its military reporting has trailed off badly since he left. Hanson Baldwin is still hard at work cultivating his own sources. Knowing his character, I'd trust his book as much as any Times story he ever wrote.

WHAT HE SAYS about Israel and the bomb is this: "There should be no doubt about it, the Middle East, is a powder keg, and the U. S. interests in the area are major. Israel is already the world's sixth atomic power; she has nuclear weapons, or the capability of assembling them quickly. She has rockets of sufficient range to reach from her borders to the major Arab capitals. And her peoples and her government possess the ruthlessness and the determination to use — in extremis — any and all means to survive."

What Nasser must realize is that the Israelis, many of whom had relatives who perished in the gas chambers of Hitler's Germany, are not going to be deprived of the country which they have conjured out of the desert.

It is a sanctuary and a refuge which they did not have in the days of the death camps of Dachau and Buchenwald. Possession of their own nation has changed their character; instead of bowing meekly to the buffets of fate, which is the lot of all stateless people, they have developed a formidable ability to fight back.

Moshe Dayan, the hero of the six-day war, is their symbol and image. If extinction threatens as it threatened in Hitler's day, they will assuredly use whatever nuclear capacity they possess to pull their enemies down with them.

Moshe Dayan may not have Samson's big head of hair (which supposedly gave great strength), but he is quite capable of pulling the whole Middle Ages edifice down if it should ever come to that.

THE MAIN trouble in the Middle East is that the Palestine Arab guerrillas are a technologically illiterate breed, and the Israelis and the Syrians are not much better. They may not appreciate what nuclear weapons might do.

The guerrillas take their thinking from Mao Tseung, whose followers in Vietnam and Cambodia are used to dealing with the gentlemanly Americans who would never — no, never — use nuclear weaponry again for fear of "world opinion."

Obviously Mao Tse-tung and his Southeast Asian disciples have cased the United States for what it is, a latter-day Rome that has lost any stomach for exercising the world power thrust upon it after World War II.

We are paralyzed by "liberals" who are dominated by a death wish. But the Israelis, having no death wish, are paradoxically willing to die to protect their national heritage. They are not going unprotestingly to a passive Buchenwald destiny twice.

Nasser has presumably gotten the idea. Whether the guerrillas can be brought over is another story.

The higher suicide rate for men, says Dr. John Altrochi of Duke University, is explainable by their preference for firearms, which are often effective. Women who seem to prefer swallowing pills, are often unaware of what constitutes a fatal dose, and may have time to reconsider. Attempts, however, are almost three times more frequent among women.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

BIDDING QUIZ

Partner bids One Diamond, next player passes, neither side vulnerable, and you have a part score of 60. What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠A93 ♥KJ7 ♦J84 ♣AQJ2
2. ♠K7 ♥85 ♦KQ75 ♣AJ943
3. ♠K84 ♥K2 ♦J73 ♣KJ542
4. ♠AKQ75 ♥QJ ♦K962 ♣K3

1. Two notrump. A two notrump response to partner's opening bid of one in a suit ordinarily indicates a balanced hand containing 13 to 15 points with stoppers in the three side suits. The bid is forcing and the auction must continue until game is reached.

But when there is a part score of 60, two notrump has a somewhat different meaning. This is because a response of one notrump would constitute a game contract, and the two notrump bid, therefore, amounts to a slam try. However, the opener need not bid again and, in fact, he is expected to pass with minimum values. The two notrump response is usually based on 15 or 16 high-card points.

2. Three diamonds. The same principle applies to a jump raise that is one level higher than necessary. Such a raise also carries with it a slam suggestion. However, the jump raise is again not forcing. It is important to note that a two club response — which matures the part score — is clearly not forcing and the opener is free to pass.

3. One notrump. Without the part score, you would respond two clubs as a normal exploratory move. But it would be inadvisable to bid this insubstantial suit under part-score conditions at a time when the opener is not obligated to bid again. There is too great a danger that he will pass with two or three baby trumps, and this could result in the loss of a game if the trumps were banded against you.

A notrump response is superior because it permits the contract to be made on high-card strength alone, even if you run into an unlucky distribution of the clubs. With 11 high-card points facing an opening bid, you should not worry about making one notrump—if partner accepts that contract by passing. Seven tricks should be a breeze.

4. Two spades. A jump-shift response is 100% forcing and compels the opener to bid again regardless of the minimum nature of his hand. The jump-shift differs from the jump-raise, which is merely an invitational step towards a slam. There is no measurable ceiling of the strength implied by a jump-shift. The sky's the limit.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, Aug. 14, the 226th day of 1970. There are 139 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1945, President Harry S. Truman announced Japan's unconditional surrender. It was the end of World War II.

On this date:
In 1784, the first Russian Colony in Alaska was founded on Kodiak Island.

In 1848, the Oregon Territory was organized.
In 1900, the Boxer Rebellion in China ended as U.S. Marines helped capture Peking.

In 1941, during World War II, it was announced that President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill had met at sea and signed the Atlantic Charter.

In 1947, the United States cancelled about $1 billion in debts owed by Italy.

In 1964, a number of Negro grade-school children signed up for classes in formerly all-white schools in Biloxi, Miss. They were the first of their race to break public school segregation in the state.

Ten years ago: Presidential candidate John F. Kennedy met Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N.Y. and pledged to carry on social programs begun by the late President Roosevelt.

Five years ago: Police and National Guardsmen were shooting it out with snipers during rioting in Negro sections of Los Angeles.

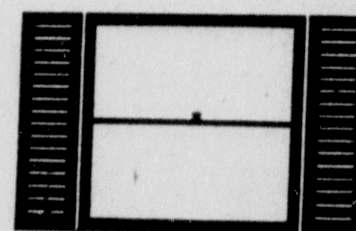

One year ago: British troops were sent to Londonderry in Northern Ireland to help police put down rioting between Protestants and Roman Catholics.

Lightning generated by storms around the world strikes the Earth 100 times each second.

Report Slaying At Toledo
TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two persons were wounded, one fatally, in a shooting on the city's North Side Thursday night.
Police said Andrea Stevens, 17, was shot and killed by Henry Burton, 73, following an argument at a party at the residence of Prince Taylor.
Taylor, whose age was not available, then shot Burton, wounding him superficially, police said.
All three were residents of the city.
Burton was admitted to a local hospital for treatment. He is under police guard.
Taylor is also in the custody of police.
An investigation into the incident is continuing, police said.

Zuni Indian Tribe Granted Independence
ZUNI, N. M. (AP) — The small Zuni Indian tribe of western New Mexico signed an agreement recently with the Interior Department which gives the tribe administration of their own reservation.
It was the first time such an agreement had been worked out between the federal agency and a tribe. The document was prepared under an 1834 law that never had been used before.
The agreement places the Zuni Tribal government in direct supervision of Bureau of Indian Affairs activities, programs and personnel on the reservation about 40 miles south of Gallup.
The agreement has a provision that can cause its cancellation by either party on 180 days written notice to the other if the experiment doesn't work out.

Pipeline Replacement Announced
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. has announced a pipeline replacement project in Hocking County that will enable the firm to put more natural gas into underground storage.
Gas Co. Vice President Charles W. Morrow said more than three miles of steel pipeline will go into the $160,000 transmission project.
Morrow said that 95 per cent of the natural gas delivered by Ohio Fuel comes from outside Ohio, much of it through long distance pipelines from the nation's southwest.
In summer when demands are low, Morrow said, large volumes of the gas are stored in cavities beneath the earth's surface.
In winter, when demands for gas reach their peak, the stored gas is withdrawn from the storage areas and supplied to the 26 gas companies in the state serviced by Ohio Fuel.
Work is expected to be completed by the end of August, Morrow said.

Report Slaying At Toledo
TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two persons were wounded, one fatally, in a shooting on the city's North Side Thursday night.
Police said Andrea Stevens, 17, was shot and killed by Henry Burton, 73, following an argument at a party at the residence of Prince Taylor.
Taylor, whose age was not available, then shot Burton, wounding him superficially, police said.
All three were residents of the city.
Burton was admitted to a local hospital for treatment. He is under police guard.
Taylor is also in the custody of police.
An investigation into the incident is continuing, police said.

Zuni Indian Tribe Granted Independence
ZUNI, N. M. (AP) — The small Zuni Indian tribe of western New Mexico signed an agreement recently with the Interior Department which gives the tribe administration of their own reservation.
It was the first time such an agreement had been worked out between the federal agency and a tribe. The document was prepared under an 1834 law that never had been used before.
The agreement places the Zuni Tribal government in direct supervision of Bureau of Indian Affairs activities, programs and personnel on the reservation about 40 miles south of Gallup.
The agreement has a provision that can cause its cancellation by either party on 180 days written notice to the other if the experiment doesn't work out.

Confusing Signs
PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Two signs comprising what could be described as a census taker's nightmare stand less than a block apart here on U.S. 45.
One gives Paducah's population as 34,000 and the other says 54,000.

Neon gobies that inhabit reefs advertise their cleaning service and customers pay them with meals. National Geographic says. Fish troubled by parasites will swim toward the gobies' electric-blue stripes, then stop while the tiny fish swarm over their scales and eat the sea lice and copepods.

Spare That Tree! — Judy Averbeck leans against a 300-year-old white oak tree she and her mother, Mrs. Helen Averbeck, are fighting to save on their property in Jefferson County south of St. Louis, Mo. The tree is threatened by relocation of Highway 21.

Scarves Accent Fashion Through The Ages

SCARVES THROUGH THE AGES — From the ancient Greeks to today's with-it Westerners scarves have accented fashion for thousands of years. Dancer Isadora Duncan was known for scarves in the first decade of the 20th century. In 1918 actress Mary Pickford draped long scarves around her neck; the 1930s and the 1940s sported short scarves; long scarves and shawls were in vogue in the early '60s, while the decade closed and the '70s opened with scarves, long and short a must for the fashion conscious.

AP NEWSFEATURES
Scarves have swept over the fashion scene in recent seasons — just as they have done for thousands of years.

Ancient Greek courtesans wrapped their hair in chitons (scarfs) while taking their morning bath. Afterwards, they draped themselves in yards of fabric, sashed with a scarf to match.

In fact, every famous woman throughout history had her own way with scarfs. Nefertiti, the great Egyptian beauty, took time out from building monuments to be a trend setter. She banded her head with costly scarfs and topped it with a tall colorful conical headdress.

Cleopatra, also a towering fashion figure, wrapped herself in a multitude of scarfs, making them a fashion must for Roman and Egyptian women of her day.

Interestingly enough, Roman women made scarfs one of the first status accessories, using different colors to indicate social rank.

History does indeed repeat itself. Today we find that scarfs signed by famous designers are a status symbol. For example, avant garde designer Giorgio de Sant Angelo of Sally Gee creates a striking collection of scarves for today's fashion leader.

GETTING BACK to history, scarves swept on through the Middle Ages, with Eleanor of Aquitaine, who is credited with bringing knighthood to flower, making scarves her trademark. Eleanor hung them in a gossamer cascade from the peak of a tall pointed hat, and started a new fashion trend.

Napoleon and Josephine, among history's warmest lovers, were also scarf devotees. To please Josephine's exotic tastes and to protect her from catching cold due to her low-cut dresses, Napoleon sent her cashmere shawls from India. Soon, shawls became a fashion that persisted through Queen Victoria's reign. Victoria loved the shawl and was rarely seen in public without her "wrap." Today, we witness the return of the fringed shawl as a dramatic day into evening accessory.

Coming down to the 20th century, long floating scarfs and feather boas were the order of the day in the early 1900's. Famous dancer Isadora Duncan made the scarf a symbol of freedom. Both in her performances and off-stage, she set a trend by wearing yards and yards of scarf. Ultimately it brought her death when a scarf was caught in the wheel of an automobile and strangled her.

IN THE EARLY 1920's, the scarf business picked up the spirit of the "flapper." The look was flowing free and fashion liberation was expressed in hand painted designs, prints and the large Spanish shawl. The thirties introduced the "fringes"; the forties saw the babushka come to the fore; the fifties favored the small, bright silk neckerchief.

The signature scarf marked the sixties and it looks like the maxi-scarfs and exaggerated ponchos will headline the seventies.

DONALD P. WOODS
Donald P. Woods BPW Speaker

Donald P. Woods, president of the Fayette County Bank, will be the principal speaker at the Business and Professional Women's Club dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Country Club.

Mr. Woods, a real estate and insurance man and president of Fayette Memorial Hospital's Board of Trustees, will speak on "Our Company's Role in Personal Development."

The personal development committee in charge of the meeting is composed of Mrs. Byron Hinton, chairman, Mrs. Charles Ellis, Miss Minnie Graves, Mrs. Frank Jamison, Mrs. Roger Klontz, Mrs. Howard Mace, Miss Faye Nelson, Mrs. Elmer Post and Mrs. Marcia Prosch.

Church Plans 'Food Festival'

Members of the Staunton United Methodist Church will sponsor a "food festival" Thursday prior to the last of the series of three summer "pops" concerts in Gardner Park by the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra.

Serving will begin at 5 p.m. The menu will consist of chicken and ham sandwiches, potato salad, baked beans, slaw, pie, cake, coffee and ice tea.

Proceeds will be used for the church repair fund. The concert begins at 8 p.m.

Taft Votes To Override Nixon Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr. said Thursday he voted to override a veto by President Nixon of the U.S. Office of Education appropriation bill because the "opening of schools in Ohio and elsewhere might have been endangered."

Taft said he agreed with the Nixon administration that "fiscal prudence" continue. But Taft said school openings might have been endangered and "vital programs damaged if the education veto had been sustained."

Taft said he believed federal spending cuts are essential to combat inflation. But, "it is not right to jeopardize educational programs," he said.

Fellow Republican and U. S. Sen. William Saxbe of Ohio also indicated support for the override. An aide said Saxbe would probably vote against the President when the override issue is brought before the Senate sometime next week.

The aide said Saxbe was "appalled" that Nixon would veto an education bill and still ask Congress for millions of dollars for the anti-ballistic missile system.

Ohio's share of the appropriation President Nixon vetoed would have been $123,017,000.

Hamilton County Eyes Coney Island

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's Coney Island amusement park on the Ohio River will be sought for a public park Wednesday at a meeting of the Hamilton County Commissioners.

Commissioner Joseph Decourcy said he would like to finance the purchase with the sale of the Carthage Fairgrounds and a federal grant.

The 155-acre park, on the eastern boundary of Cincinnati, will be closed in 1972 by the owners, Taft Broadcasting.

The firm is constructing a larger park in Clermont County.

Dinner Party Honors Bride

Friends and fellow employees of Steen's Department Store gave a shower and dinner party at the Terrace Lounge for Mrs. Roger LeBeau, the former Miss Linda Sowers.

Following the dinner, the bride was presented a cake with small umbrellas and pink rosebuds, which she served to the guests.

The guest list included Mrs. Joan Van Bibber, Mrs. Pat Hart, Mrs. Laura Brown, Mrs. Mildred Hewitt, Mrs. Jane Steiner, Miss Dorothy Donohoe, Mrs. Joyce Fields, Mrs. Dorothy Knisley, Miss Janice Groves, Miss Jane DuVall, Mrs. Francis Yookum, Mrs. Roberta Baker, Mrs. Opal Ault, Mrs. Julie Harris, Mrs. Betty McQuinnif, Mrs. Clara Pealtz, Mrs. Sharon Flowers, Mrs. Vicki Ream, Mrs. Romaine Hughes, Miss Becky Knost, Mrs. Wanda Howell, Mrs. Shirley Zugg, Mrs. Marie Baughn, Mrs. Dorothy Mathews, Mrs. Sherrie Bower, Miss Judy Jacobs and Mrs. Alberta Jacobs.

Riley Family On Way To Morocco

Chief Petty Officer and Mrs. Robert M. Riley and daughter, Mona Lynn, are visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Riley, at Plano, and Mr. and Mrs. Milbourne Barney, Sedalia Rd. Chief Riley and his family have been stationed at Norfolk, Va., for the past year. Previously they were at Great Lakes Naval Training Center and in the Philippines.

The Rileys came here from Florida, where they were visiting friends who had been stationed in the Philippines with them. Their daughter, Mona, had been visiting with friends in Chicago, Ill.

They will visit here with other relatives and friends until Aug. 26, then go to Norfolk and then to Morocco for three years. Following this tour of duty Chief Riley will retire after serving 20 years with the U. S. Navy. The family plans to do some sightseeing in some of the European countries while there.

Personals

Mrs. I. L. Pumphrey, 110 E. Market St., has returned after spending the past week visiting relatives and friends in the Chicago, Ill., area. From there she went to Kokomo, Ind., where she visited with other relatives before her return.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Parrett, Ohio 38, have returned home from an 18-day trip which took them into the Western states. They visited friends in Boulder, Colo., saw "Hello Dolly" in an outdoor performance in Denver, and were guests at the opera, "Mice and Men" in Central City. They attended Cheyenne Frontier Days, went through the Grand Teton Mountains, Yellowstone National Park, saw the "Passional Play" in Spearfish, S. D., and toured the Black Hills and the Bad Lands. They also saw the pageant "Crazy Horse." In Mitchell, S. D., they visited the Corn Palace, a coliseum with grain designs on the walls and murals made of grain inside.

WCH Girl Scout Back Home After 21 Days In Wilderness

STACEY JOHNS

Miss Stacey Johns, of 619 Rawlings St., has arrived home after a glorious 21 days in the west.

A sophomore at Washington Senior High School, and a member of the Troop 1190, Stacey was one of 32 Ohio Girl Scouts who attended a three-week primitive camping trip to Girl Scout National Center West in the Bighorn Mountains of Wyoming. The Center is a 15,000-acre wilderness.

Miss Johns prepared for her trek beginning last February when she attended practice sessions in backpacking and in all of the necessary preparations needed for the trip.

These were held at Camp Ken Jockety, Molly Lauma, Doula Dale and Echo Hills.

She learned to plan and work in eight-girl patrols at these sessions and to stow baggage.

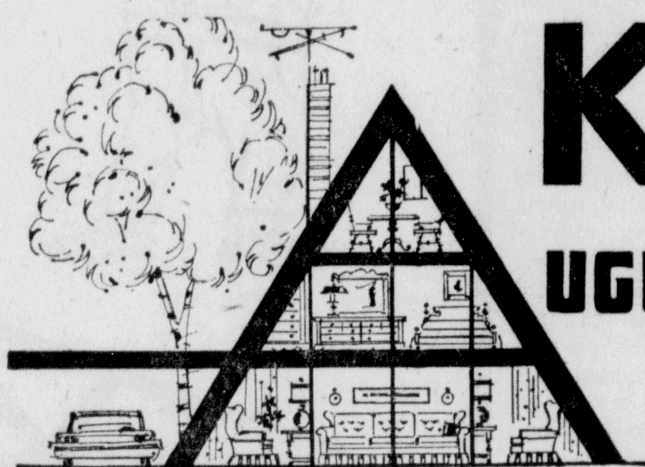

The westward trip was planned by the girls from the Seal of Ohio Girl Scout Council, and made by chartered bus. They were accompanied by four adults from the Council staff and joined by Girl Scouts, from all over Ohio, other states and Puerto Rico.

Some of the sightseeing stops were made in Hannibal, Mo., boyhood home of Mark Twain; Yellowstone National Park; the Black Hills of South Dakota, and at a rodeo in Cheyenne, Wyo. They also saw the Garden of the Gods in Colorado and visited the Air Force Academy.

She participated in a variety of activities including archaeology and geology expeditions and trail riding. She enjoyed trail riding the most she said. One day she and another Girl Scout killed a rattlesnake on a trail.

Miss Johns resides with her aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smith, and a sister, Robin Johns, of the same address. She brought home many souvenirs and a thousand memories. She is going to reapply for the trip again next year.

Probe Saxbe Link With Crofters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Franklin County grand jury probing the state investment scandal is taking a look at the connection between U. S. Sen. William B. Saxbe and a top official of Crofters Inc., the money-finding firm.

Gerald J. Donahue, secretary-treasurer of Crofters, was Saxbe's first assistant upon two occasions when Saxbe was Ohio attorney general.

Donahue, as an officer of Crofters, arranged for private firms to contact the state treasury for loans.

Crofters Inc. was formed after Saxbe went to Washington and Donahue went into private law practice in Columbus.

The grand jury has obtained the records of Saxbe's 1968 campaign expenses from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, who has said he will go into the industrial development business in Columbus when he leaves office, is negotiating to buy a house on the edge of the Scioto

Country Club golf course in Columbus.

The Columbus doctor who owns the home had been asking $165,000 but Rhodes, a source said, doesn't want to go higher than $150,000.

Rhodes has also requested that if the sale goes through it not be made public until Nov. 15. Why that date is unknown. The general election is Nov. 3.

Don't expect any special session of the 108th General Assembly to increase the size of the Highway Patrol as some legislators and educators have suggested. Money is the main problem.

If the special session is called, it will be politically-motivated to show constituents that legislators want to do something about campus disorders.

But legislators also want to avoid a fight with the politically-potent Buckeye State Sheriffs' Association and other groups that are skeptical of patrol expansion.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney of Cincinnati believes that any bill providing for the increase of the Highway Patrol should also earmark where supporting funds will come from.

Assistant Finance Director Melvyn P. Nowell says there aren't any funds that might be obtained now other than by juggling appropriations.

Present law requires the Highway Patrol to have 880 men. Actually the number could be increased by appropriating the money. No new law would be necessary.

The so-called "silent majority" remained that way as the legislative committee on campus disorders went about the state soliciting testimony.

Few parents or businessmen testified. Most of those who did were college officials, students and police.

Not one businessman or parent appeared when the committee was at Kent State or Ohio University. Business establishments near both campuses suffered damages during last spring's rioting.

Parking Essay Wins Dismissal

CHICAGO (AP) — Clarke C. Edwards appeared in traffic court last month to answer a charge of having 31 unpaid tickets and was ordered to write an essay on parking.

Edwards, a criminology major at Roosevelt University, returned to court Wednesday to read his five-page essay, "My Kingdom for a Space."

"In the beginning," Edwards began, "one man invented the wheel. On the opposite end of the world another man invented the 'No Parking' sign. These two items have been at odds ever since."

Judge Raymond Berg congratulated Edwards on his essay, lectured him on his parking habits and dismissed the cases.

Mini-Skirted Girls Get 'Modesty Panels'

CHICAGO (AP) — A modesty panel is a rectangular shield placed in front of a secretary's desk to insure her privacy in this era of ascending hemlines of miniskirts.

Jerry Silver, president of an art metal firm, said the sale of modesty panels has increased 37 per cent and is keeping pace with the rise in skirts.

"The modesty panel offers secretaries a sanctuary from what might be termed 'occupational ogling,'" Silver said.

July Upsurge Of Complaints Noted In City Police Report

City Police Chief Rodman Scott is at loss to explain why complaints filed with his department during July increased by 15 per cent over the number reported in the same month last year.

"There really is no way to determine 'a cause'. We can only assume that warm and humid weather had a bearing on tempers," he said about the monthly totals of offense and accident statistics compiled by police personnel.

Officers in the department handled 640 calls during July, 96 more than during July of 1969. Nearly all of them required some action by police officers, Chief Scott said. Complaints handled by the department now total 3,631 for the year, as compared with 3,187 for the same period last year.

Traffic citations totaled 60 for the 31-day period and 45 other persons were charged with more serious crimes, ranging from auto theft to resisting arrest.

AMONG OFFENSES known to have been committed in the city during the reporting period were 17 petty larcenies, 5 burglaries, a rape, an aggravated assault, 3 grand larcenies, 2 auto thefts, 13 check frauds, 2 sex offenses and 13 cases of malicious destruction of property.

There were a total of 40 larceny complaints, 28 domestic quarrels, 50 disturbances, 26 animal complaints, 23 prowler calls and 52 suspicious person or car reports among an assortment of calls answered by officers.

Traffic accidents also increased to 60 during the month with seven persons injured and damage estimated at $18,028, an average of $283.80 per accident. Twenty-three persons were cited for traffic law infractions in connection with mishaps.

A total of 18 juvenile cases were handled by the department, of which only two were referred to Juvenile Court. The 16 others were handled within the department, and the children were released in the custody of parents, Chief Scott said.

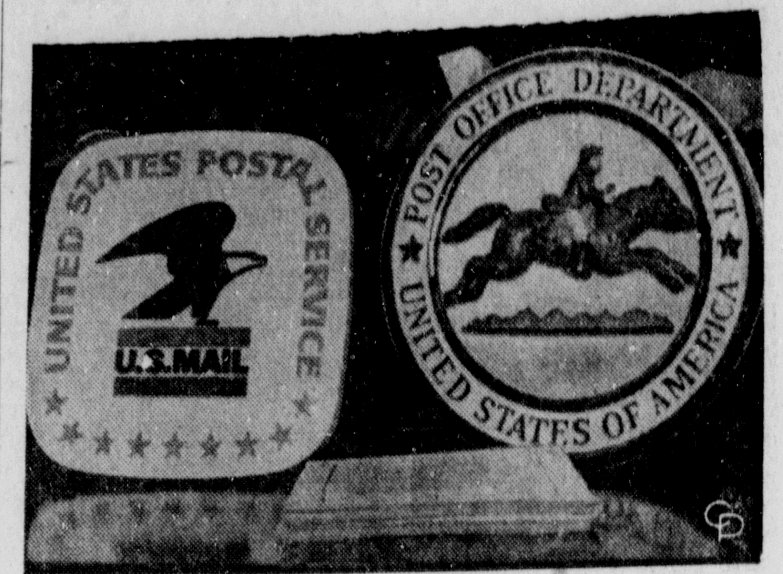

THERE WERE 12 speeding charges filed by officers among the 60 traffic violation citations. There were also six citations each for stop sign violations, and reckless operation. Totalling four each were driving while under the influence of alcohol, failure to maintain assured clear-

Criminal arrests were topped by 10 charges of issuing fraudulent checks and six for disturbing the peace by intoxication. There were four arrests for disorderly conduct and eight persons were taken into custody for other law enforcement departments. More serious charges of auto larceny, breaking and entering and resisting arrest were filed against three other persons.

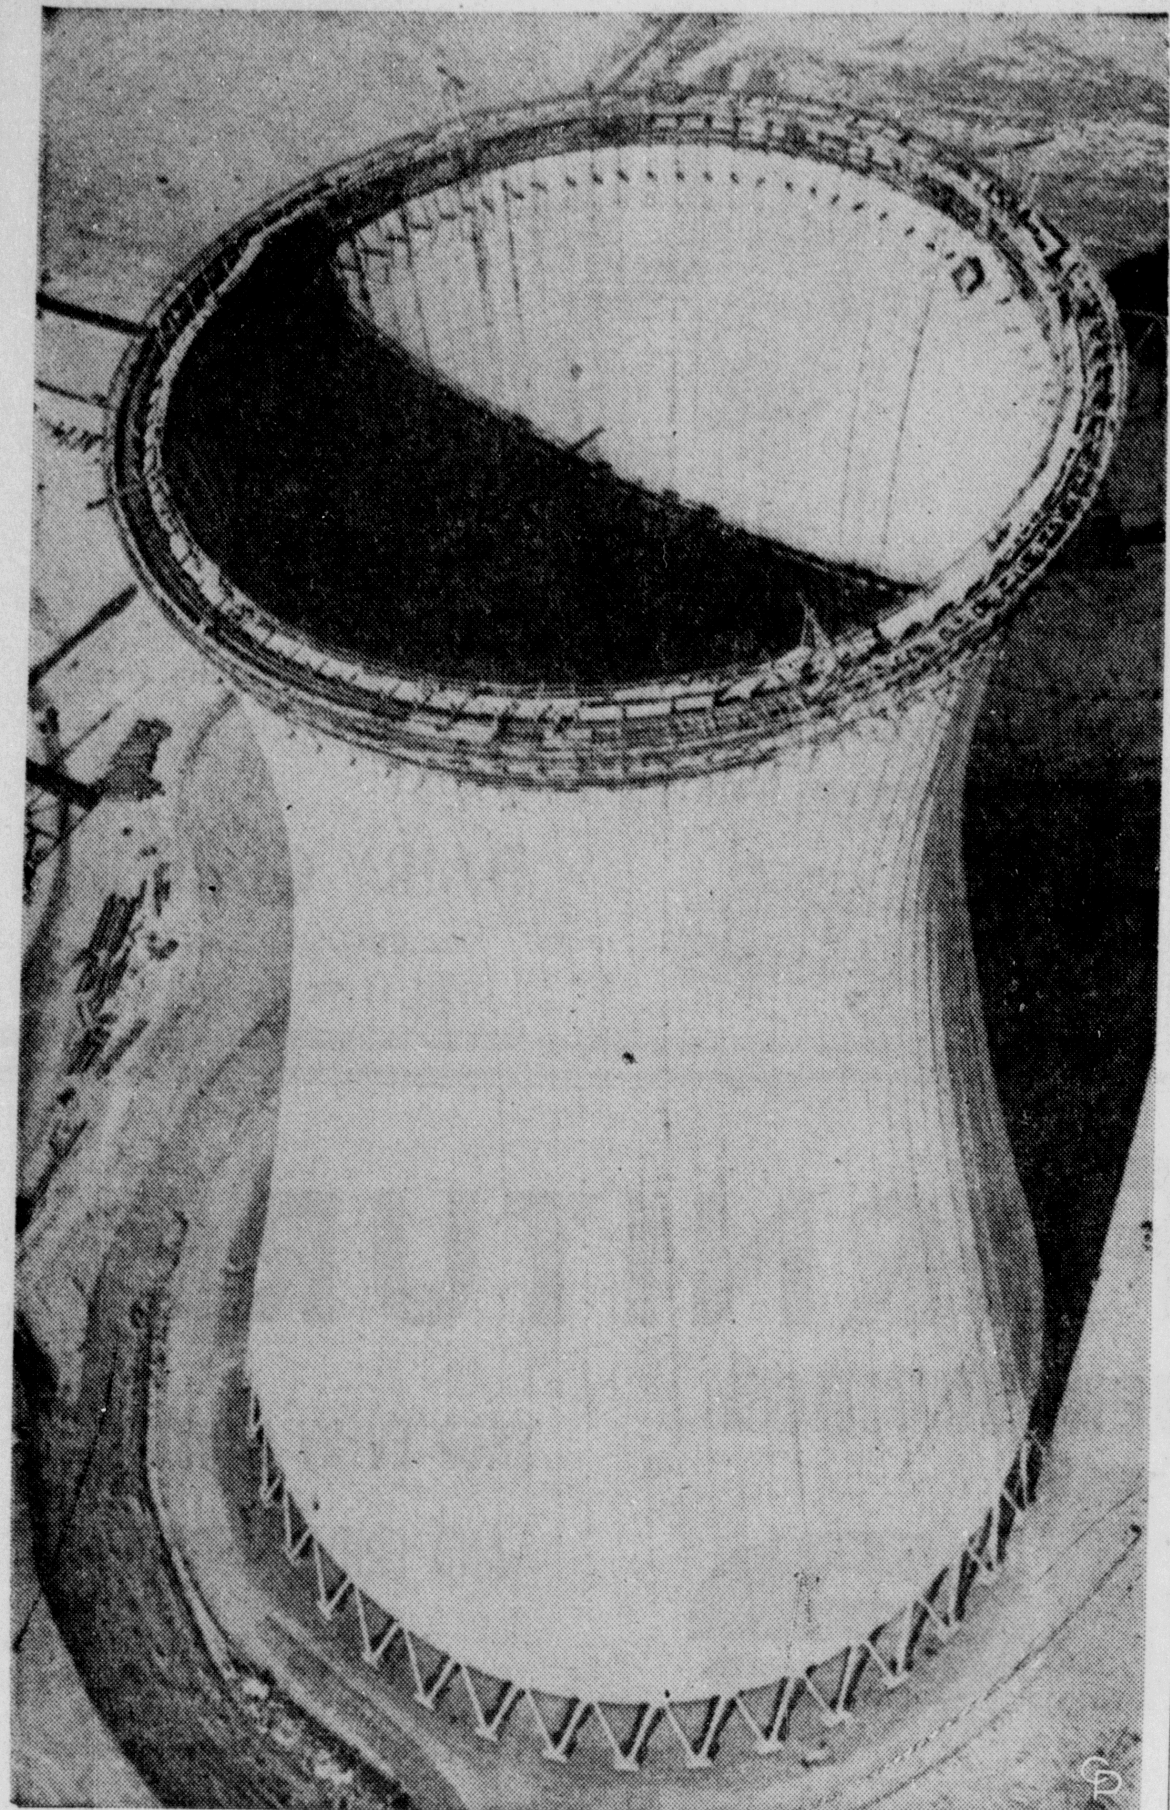

Value of property stolen during the month totaled $4,877.03, of which $3,288.88 was recovered. Property valued at $400 was recovered for another department. Vandalism damage during the month totaled $270, the smallest amount recorded this year.

WATER COOLER—This 425-foot water cooling tower, first of two, has been completed at the Sacramento, Calif., Municipal Utility District's Rancho Seco nuclear generating plant. It is taller than a 42-story building and will cool hot water flowing at a rate of 500,000 gallons a minute by the natural draft rising through 325-foot-diameter shafts. The $222 million project is expected to be in service by 1973.

"STRAIGHT FROM WASHINGTON"
by U. S. SENATOR STEPHEN M. YOUNG

WASHINGTON — In the last six years the United States has spent more than $115 billion on the immoral war in Southeast Asia. For 1969 alone the price tag was $30.4 billion — $600 for every American family.

This did not include economic aid programs to the Indochinese nations, CIA funds spent in the area, the cost of reductions in stockpiles of strategic materials, or the loss of productivity accompanying war expenditures.

In 1969 of each tax dollar 23 cents went to pay for the Vietnam war, 13 cents of each dollar for past wars and 35 cents in preparation for future wars. The Indochina war in 1969 cost more than all federal spending for domestic goods, 10 times more than federal outlays for medical assistance, and 30 times more than federal grants for urban planning and development.

It costs $500,000 to kill one VC. This sum would support 3,400 youngsters in school or college or build at least 50 housing units. One heavy B-52 raid costs about $40 million. This could purchase three or four hundred-bed hospitals, or 27 elementary schools or about 4,050 housing units.

WASTED LIVES

Due to the use of helicopters as ambulances in Cambodia, Laos and South Vietnam removing the wounded within minutes or within an hour, the death rate of wounded GIs is but 2.3 per cent compared to nearly 5 per cent in World War I.

Deaths in combat are down but GIs who would have been mortally wounded and would have died within hours in World War I now survive due to instant evacuation by helicopter and the advance of medical science.

Cooler Air Heads East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cooling relief broke an extended siege of heat in the interior of the Pacific Northwest today and fanned eastward toward the Great Plains.

Thunderstorms erupted along the front ahead of the main thrust of cooler weather.

Temperatures were 10 to 20 degrees lower than a day earlier in sections of the Northwest interior, which had baked in daytime highs throughout the 90s for a week or more.

Thunderstorms crackled across the South and in parts of the East. Locally heavy downpours hit some areas late Thursday. Nearly 3 inches of rain soaked Austin, Pa.

A few showers also splashed into normally dry sections of the Southwest. Almost an inch of rain wet down Flagstaff, Ariz., Thursday.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 48 at Kallispell, Monn., to 95 at Blythe, Calif.

Tate Witness Free, Feels No Different

By LINDA DEUTSCH

Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Everybody says I'm a free woman," Linda Kasabian said with a sigh, "but I don't feel any different."

Then the state's star witness in the Sharon Tate murder trial was whisked out a back door of the Hall of Justice Thursday under heavy guard to spend her first night out of jail in eight months.

Mrs. Kasabian's lawyers said she was driven to an undisclosed hotel, anticipating "a good dinner and probably watching television."

She was released after murder-conspiracy charges against her were dropped Thursday. The petite, pigtailed witness was granted immunity from prosecution for telling her story on the stand.

During 14 days as a witness, she has testified that some members of Charles M. Manson's hippie-style "family" killed the blonde actress and six others during two murder missions last August. She said she went on the missions but stayed outside as a lookout, then fled in terror.

Manson and three women followers, Susan Atkins, 21, Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, and Leslie Van Houten, 20, are on trial for murder-conspiracy.

Master's Degree Is Awarded To WHS Graduate

Mrs. Walter (Betty Swayne) Leslein, of Tucker, Ga., daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Swayne, Sycamore St., and the late Frank Swayne, recently received a master's degree in education from Ohio State University. Mrs. Leslein has done graduate work at OSU and Emory University in Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Leslein is a teacher with the DeKalb County school system in Georgia. Her husband is a design engineer with the McBurney Stoker and Equipment Co., in Doraville, Ga. They are the parents of three children, Mark and Pete, who are enrolled in Tucker High School and Kathy, an elementary student.

Mrs. Leslein has also been active in many civic groups, including the Georgia Conservancy and League of Women Voters. She was one of the founders of the Democratic Women of DeKalb Co., in early 1969, which is now the largest group of its kind in that state. She serves as program chairman of the group. She was also selected for Personalities of the South, 1970 edition, a publication of the American Biographical Institute.

Mrs. Leslein was graduated from Washington High School in 1949. She and Mr. Leslein and family have lived in Georgia for two years, having lived in Powell, Ohio, previously. They recently returned from a trip to Lake Lanier and also from Jekyll Island.

Mrs. Kasabian will come to court daily until she completes her testimony. Ronald Hughes, the last of four defense lawyers, completed his cross-examination, and chief prosecutor Aaron Stovitz began questions in redirect examination.

Stovitz said he would finish redirect by tonight, but the four defense attorneys then begin re-cross-examination, which is expected to take several days.

A prosecutor said that she will remain under guard as long as she's a witness, but once she leaves California the matter will be out of their hands.

Her attorney said she hopes to head east. Her mother in Milford has been caring for her children, Tanya, 2, and Angel, 5

Nader Wins GM Settlement; To Fight Firm With Money

NEW YORK (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader has received $425,000 from General Motors in an out-of-court settlement of his invasion of privacy suit.

Nader said Thursday he would use some of the money to monitor GM's activities in the areas of safety, pollution and consumer relations. "They are going to be financing their own ombudsman," he said.

The suit, filed in November 1966, alleged that GM began a campaign to intimidate Nader after he wrote his book, "Unsafe At Any Speed," which was critical of automobile safety standards.

Nader complained in the suit that GM hired a private investigator, Vincent Glen, whose detectives inquired into his private life.

The book prompted a safety crusade and a Senate hearing during which James M. Roche, then president of the giant automaker, publicly apologized for any harassment.

Nader sued for damages—$26 million was the figure reported at the time although his lawyers said Thursday the total was $12 million.

Mini-Tornado Hits 3 Houses In Newark Area

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—A high wind whirled along the city's outskirts for about 30 seconds Thursday evening causing slight damage to three area homes.

The Columbus Weather Bureau said a dust devil, a kind of mini-tornado, was the probable cause of the damage.

According to weather bureau officials, dust devils are commonly spawned when ground surface heat is high, or from a downdraft that precedes most thundershowers.

Radar was tracking a thunderstorm west of the city just prior to the time the high wind hit, the weather official said. No injuries were reported.

months. The attorney, Ronald Goldman, was asked if, in view of her experiences, she could ever really feel free.

"The fact that she has told the truth," he said, "that she gave herself up, and that she has done everything she could for the cause of truth and justice, will give her solace and a sense of freedom."

Hughes, trying his first case, concluded his cross-examination with questions on drug use and life in the Manson "family."

He asked if Mrs. Kasabian gave her baby daughter drugs. "No," she replied. "I believe she was stoned naturally. I believe that all children are."

Was she "controlled by Mr.

Manson through vibrations?"

"Yes, possibly." Did he put out "a lot of vibes?"

"Sure. He's doing it right now." The answer brought a broad grin from Manson.

Earlier, the diminutive bearded Manson, 35, padded barefoot into the courtroom for a hearing with the jury absent. He complained of "unjust and barbaric treatment" in jail and asked for a "cease and desist" order.

Manson, in jail denims, took the witness stand to testify in support of his motions but didn't get the chance. The judge postponed the hearing for a week after the defense said it wanted the sheriff's department represented by an impartial attorney, rather than by one of the prosecutors.

Manson complained that he and his attorney are forced to interview witnesses through a heavy screen that makes vision difficult. He was joined in the motion by his three defendants, who said they too have problems with screens.

In a written statement accompanying his motion, Manson said, "Several times daily I am forced to completely disrobe to nudity then forced to dress, becoming alternately nude and dressed... as frequently as six or seven times a day each of my body cavities is searched. I am forced to walk to and fro in a hallway until I am completely exhausted."

Nader said in a statement that GM could have delayed the case further and therefore "it was deemed wiser to settle the case and devote the proceeds, after deduction of legal fees and expenses, to the cause of consumer protection and corporate responsibility, especially in the latter area—General Motors' responsibility."

McCulloch Has Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — An aide to Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, said Thursday the congressman is recovering from surgery at John Hopkins University Hospital in Baltimore.

The 68-year-old McCulloch underwent surgery Tuesday night to remove a subdural hematoma, a small blood mass, that had collected inside the skull.

"He is resting comfortably and is in entirely satisfactory condition," his office reported.

McCulloch, a 23-year veteran of the House, suffered the injury in May when he fell in his office. The condition was not discovered, however, until he entered the hospital for a series of tests this week prior to leaving for Japan for a United Nations conference on crime.

Doctors have not yet set a date for McCulloch's release from the hospital, but aides quoted him as saying he was eager to return to work.

Akron Area Reported Quiet After 3 Troubled Nights

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The predominantly black near West Side of Akron was quiet during the night following appeals from the mayor and the head of the Akron National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Hundreds of youths were involved in disturbances for three consecutive nights before the relative calm Thursday.

Akron Mayor John S. Ballard and Edwin L. Parns, head of the Akron NAACP, called on Akron residents to keep their children home and try to calm the situation.

Ballard said he saw no immediate need for summoning the Ohio National Guard. "I don't feel the situation would warrant calling the guard," he said. "The city (police) forces are fully competent to contain the situation."

Some 500 National Guardsmen were called to Akron two years ago when rioting and burning erupted on Wooster Avenue (the West Side) and on South Arlington Street (the near East Side).

Ballard said he did not believe the three nights of rock throwing were organized.

He and Police Chief Harry Whiddon said they believed the incidents were spontaneous outbursts from normally "good and intelligent" youngsters who had allowed themselves to be influenced by others.

A newsman who interviewed some of the youths involved said they told him they were mainly protesting a lack of jobs, a lack of recreation facilities and a lack of educational programs relevant to the blacks.

Many of the persons arrested were youngsters in their mid-teens. Ages ranged from about

Rhodes Reviews Ohio Guardsmen

CAMP GRAYLING, Mich. (AP)—The present commander-in-chief of the Ohio National Guard, Gov. James A. Rhodes, will review the troops for the last time here today.

Rhodes, who leaves office in January, will make his farewell visit to the Michigan encampment for the annual governor's review.

Joining the governor on the reviewing stand will be Ohio Adj. Gen. Sylvester T. Del Corso and Mich. Adj. Gen. Clarence C. Schnipke.

Passing in review will be some 4,000 guardsmen from the northeastern area of Ohio, here for summer training.

13 to 20 with mostly juvenile charges being filed.

The disturbances started Monday night when a crowd formed around two girls who were fighting in the street. A police car called to the scene was stoned.

Want Airport Knife Sales Cut To Nothing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration has asked airport operators to ban the sale of knives or imitation weapons at terminals to prevent their possible use by skyjackers.

Carl F. Maisch, FAA security chief, confirmed Thursday airport managements have been asked to discourage vendors from making such articles readily available to shoppers at airports.

The request was contained in a letter to members of the Airport Operators Council International and the American Association of Airport Executives.

It asked airport operators to discourage the sale of items such as knives, daggers, imitation revolvers, and cigarette lighters shaped like hand grenades.

Airline crews normally can distinguish these from real weapons, the request said but they may not be able to do so if such an article is brandished about or pressed against the back of the head.

The request is the latest FAA action to deter airline hijackers.

An FAA task force earlier set up an anti-hijacking system credited with having circumvented some airline hijackings.

The system makes use of a hijacker behavioral profile, to identify potential troublemakers, and a weapons screening device.

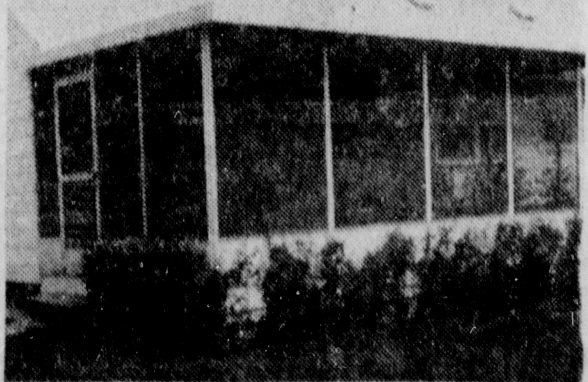

The anti-hijacking system is used by four airlines—Eastern, Trans World, Pan American and Continental—and at New Orleans International airport by all nine airlines serving that terminal.

The White House also is considering establishment of a special Presidential commission to review measures for air transportation security and to recommend further improvements. There has been no indication when this might be done, however.

Find Bill Collectors Busier As Economy Pinch Widens

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill collecting is one business that has profited from the economic downturn, credit experts say.

The American Collectors Association—ACA—reports that the number of delinquent accounts referred by businessmen to its 2,600 member agencies last month was 20 per cent higher than a year earlier and the third highest for any month in history.

The rising cost of living, tight money, layoffs and uncertainty about job security are cited by credit authorities as reasons some consumers are either slower in paying their bills or failing to pay them altogether.

"People are being laid off and seasonal workers are finding it harder to get jobs. Where there's a lot of uncertainty about what's going to happen, the consumer holds onto money as long as he can," says an ACA spokesman.

"People have built up a tolerance to nonpayment," adds Morton Goldberg, a New York attorney specializing in bill collections. "Since the beginning of the year, there's been more and more of this. People have the money but won't part with it."

People . . . Places . . . And Things

Round About The County

By B. E. KELLEY

Every time I see our Courthouse I think of the courage and foresight of the Fayette County commissioners who planned it and asked voters to approve a tax to erect a structure of which Fayette Countians could be proud.

These commissioners — R. S. Sutherland, W. J. Horney and R. S. Eyre — all prominent men of their day, had foresight and vision.

They kept close watch on the structure as it was built, and to further beautify the Seat of Justice outside, they arranged for some 15 carvings on the exterior, chiefly faces of notable persons and characters going back into ancient history. They also arranged for the painting of the murals and other work by America's greatest patriotic artist, Archibald M. Willard.

The gargoyles and other large faces on the exterior of the Courthouse are all hand carved, and in one or two instances the work was done on two stones which fit together to form the features.

In addition there are numerous carvings some 24 to 30 inches in diameter, of fruit, flowers and other ornamental designs.

On the cornerstone in the south corner of the edifice are the names of the county commissioners who were responsible for the building and the names of the committee in charge of the ceremonies accompanying the historic cornerstone laying.

This committee was composed of T. N. Craig, E. W. Welsheimer, J. F. Cook and H. D. Purcell.

Growing dim from weathering is the following additional inscription on the cornerstone — "Laid with ceremonies June 7, 1883 A.D. Erected 1882-84. D. Gibbs, & Co. Architects, J. M. North Bros., and John Lichberger, contractors."

As a matter of fact the huge sandstone structure, was started in 1882 and completed in 1885, being occupied for the first time in May of that year.

Voters had approved what then was regarded as a huge sum in 1881, and more than the original bond issue was necessary to complete and equip the building, the total cost being $140,000. All furnishings were of black walnut.

After 85 years the structure, which in recent years has been greatly improved by attention it should have had many years ago, is just as beautiful as when completed and turned over to the county ready for use in 1885.

It should still be standing at the end of 100 years, and having been modernized as years went by, remains adequate to house most of the county's offices.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Reporting for Ross County, a man in touch with the situation estimated the corn crop there at 20 per cent of normal, due to the abnormal drought and heat.

Gov. Myers Y. Cooper attended the opening day of the Fayette County Fair. Rain halted the racing in mid-afternoon.

Due to very active campaign for various offices, the primary election vote was unusually heavy.

The First National Bank, with Avery G. Clinger president, R. O. Harrison, cashier, and J. Roush Burton, teller, opened its doors here, as an affiliate of the $100 million BancOhio Corp. The bank had purchased the former Ohio State Bank building as its home. Due to the chaotic conditions resulting from bank failures and unemployment, the new institution was welcomed.

Three youths held up the Pure Oil Station on W. Court Street, and escaped in a stolen car, evading a roadblock in Jamestown and shooting it out with officers in South Charleston, but no one was injured. They earlier had robbed the John Cochenour store at Crownover Mills, of $100. Belief was expressed the trio resided in Madison County.

Two men held up the Waynesville Bank and escaped with $700.

Two hundred idle men had applied to the local relief office for employment, and local officials and state and national officers were planning quick action to handle the generally serious unemployment situation by providing jobs on public work.

The C. C. Beam Stone Co. offered free agricultural limestone to farmers for a limited time.

The British Dirigible R100 was enroute back to England after a visit to Canada.

Six convicts in the Ohio Penitentiary were being held for starting the big fire which claimed the lives of 320 inmates of the institution.

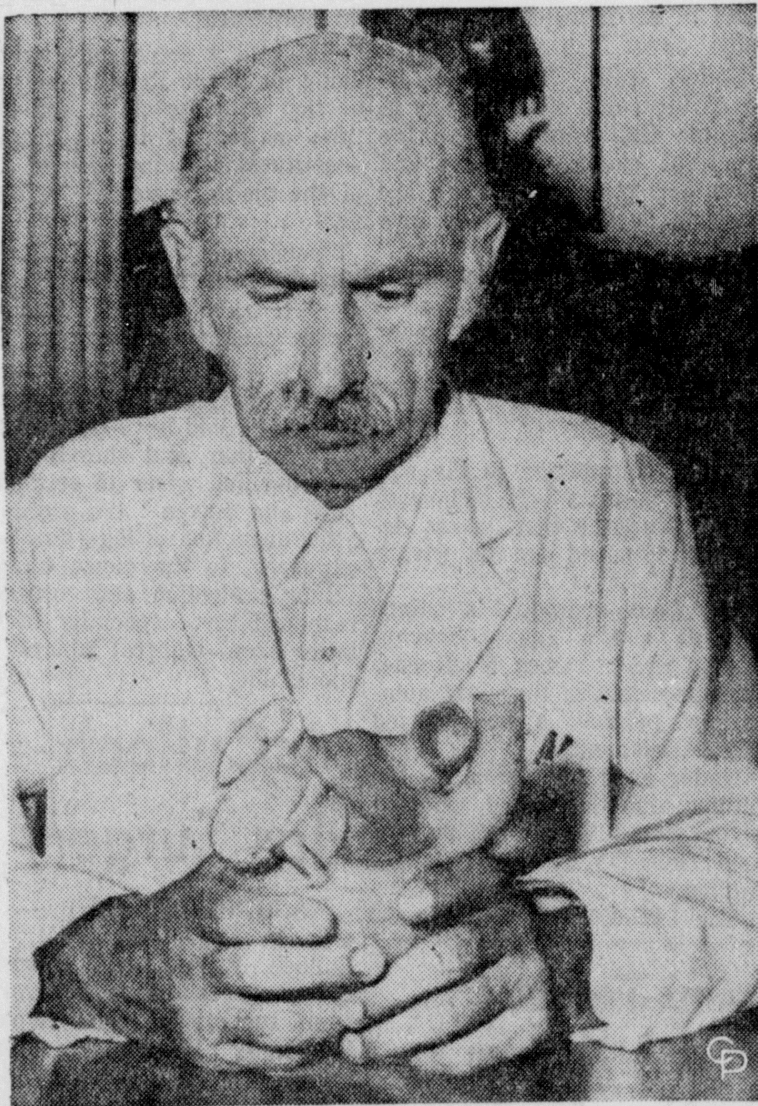

Union Township trustees were informed that a family of seven had been living on nothing but roasting ears for several days, and food was quickly provided for them.

Reports reaching officials here were that many families, with adults unable to find work, were nearly starving, and unable to have medical attention.

A U. S. physician interviewed by "Glamour Magazine" said that "traveler's trots" — diarrhea, vomiting — can be prevented sometimes by eating O. Harrison, cashier, and J. Roush Burton, teller, opened its doors here, as an affiliate of the $100 million BancOhio Corp.

Your Horoscope

The Stars Say—By ESTRELLITA

For Tomorrow

PLANETARY influences, affecting toward personal relationships late today, will continue to a degree on Saturday, so persevere in your efforts to maintain harmony with all—especially those in your immediate circle.

For The Birthday

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates fine prospects for the next 12 months—both materially and in your personal concerns. To be specific: On Sept. 1 you will enter a splendid 3-month cycle during which you should be able to advance all job and/or business interests considerably—with October outstanding for advancement and gratifying recognition. Successes during this excellent period should not only give your spirits a lift, but spur your ambitions and lead to further boosts during January, March and June of 1971.

The last three months of the current year will be excellent from a financial standpoint, but do avoid extravagance during the last half of this month and the first two weeks of April and, under no circumstances, engage in speculation during early September, early October or late November. Gains during any or all of these periods will accrue only from increased earnings and/or yield from sound investments. Next good periods on the fiscal score: March, May and June.

Both travel and social activities should prove unusually stimulating during the next two weeks, in September, February, May and June. Most propitious periods for romance: The balance of this month, October, late December, next March, May and June. If careful to avoid friction within the family circle during the next 10 days, you should find the next 12 months extremely rewarding where domestic interests are concerned.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a fine intellect and an extremely outgoing personality; could excel as a salesman, entertainer or politician.

'Miss America' Time Again

By Central Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — The "Miss America Pageant," pinnacle of secret dreams each year by young ladies throughout the nation, will be 50 years old in September.

Started at the dawn of the decade of the roaring 1920s as a simple bathing beauty contest, it has evolved through a half century to become as familiar in the lore of America as mother's homemade apple pie.

Years ago the crown of "Miss America" was coveted by young ladies thrilled with the fame and glamor of being selected the most beautiful and charming girl in the nation.

THE SHIMMER of fame and glamor still shines brightly for those seeking the crown, but most also are now seeking the scholarship benefits awarded throughout the local and state pageants conducted as part of the national organization and at the "Miss America Pageant" finals staged each September here in Atlantic City the week following Labor Day.

Some girls have utilized their experience as former "Miss Americas" and their education and training gained through scholarship benefits to carve out careers.

Others have stepped back from the glare of publicity at the end of their reign to finish their education, marry and enter family and community life.

Albert A. Marks, Jr., pageant executive chairman and veteran officer of the organization comments, "not all Miss Americas continue in outstanding public roles, but they do continue to be outstanding citizens in whatever community they may eventually reside."

SHOW BUSINESS has been the goal of several. One who succeeded is Lee Meriwether, "Miss America 1955," who will return to the pageant this year to be co-host of the national NBC two-hour telecast Sept. 12 with Debby Bryant, "Miss America 1966."

Miss Meriwether credits include roles in movies, "Angel in My Pocket" with Andy Griffith, "The Undeclared" with John Wayne, and she has been in several major television shows including "Mission Impossible" and "Star Trek" as well as Bob Hope and Jack Benney specials.

Miss Bryant, one of two Phi Beta Kappa graduates in the roster of former "Miss Americas," will be serving as

1945—Bess Myerson

1953—Neva Langley

1955—Lee Meriwether

1956—Sharon Ritchie

1970—Pamela Ann Eldred

1958—Marilyn Van Derbur

1959—Mary Ann Mobley

1964—Donna Axum

1966—Debby Bryant

pageant television hostess for her second year.

BESS MYERSON, "Miss America 1945," with extensive television credits, now has entered a new career as commissioner of consumer affairs for New York City.

As a Phi Beta Kappa graduate is Marilyn Van Derbur, "Miss America 1958," who has been hostess for several major television specials and was an outstanding guest speaker and lecturer last year. She addressed more than 100 business, professional and civic meetings.

Mary Ann Mobley, "Miss America 1959," is a Hollywood and television actress whose credits include a movie with Elvis Presley and a number of television shows. She is married to actor Gary Collins who is appearing in the current movie "Airport," with Dean and Bert Lancaster.

SHARON RITCHIE, "Miss America 1956," is an actress with television credits and is married to Kyle Rote, former football star, now a sportscaster.

The lives of other former "Miss Americas" are varied. Donna Axum, "Miss America 1964," is married to the speaker of the Texas House of Representatives. Neva Jane

Census Estimate Drops For 2,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau has made a sharp downward revision from its estimate of three years ago of what the U. S. population would be by the year 2,000.

In 1967, census experts projected the total at between 283 million and 361 million. But now, they say, it looks like the population will fall in a range of 266 million to 320 million by century's end.

The bureau said Wednesday the new estimate is based on a decline in birth rates in the late 1960s.

Langley, "Miss America 1953," now Mrs. William Fickling, Jr., was a leader recently of a fund drive that raised $150,000 to restore the historic Grand Theater in Georgia.

Most former "Miss Americas" of recent years started their careers after finishing studies and training aided by their pageant scholarships.

The girl selected the new "Miss America" in September will be presented the top scholarship of $10,000, plus a year of benefits and earnings, ranging from wardrobe to cash fees, that in aggregate value can amount to between $50,000 and $100,000 before she relinquishes her crown next year to a new "Miss America."

Since start of the pageant scholarship program in 1945, approximately $7 million in scholarships have been awarded to contestants at the local, state and national levels.

THE "Miss America pageant" organization conducts the largest scholarship program for young women in the world, Marks says. Approximately $700,000 in scholarships is awarded each year throughout the pageant organization that, at all levels, conducts 3,500 individual pageants leading to selection of the 50 state winners who compete for the "Miss America" crown in Atlantic City. Approximately 70,000 girls enter the competition each year.

Percy Rodrigues To Co-Star In Upcoming ABC Program

By BOB THOMAS

Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Says Canadian actor Percy Rodrigues: "I think my mother gave me the name of Percy so I would be able to take care of myself." And he has.

He is a strongly built man with a rumbling voice and the face of a Hawaiian king. His dark skin comes from his Portuguese parentage. This fall he will be seen in a new ABC television series, "The Silent Force," co-starring with Ed Nelson as government agents in search of organized crime.

Oddly, both Rodrigues and Nelson are alumni of "Peyton Place," on which both played doctors.

For Percy Rodrigues, stardom has been a long time coming. In his early years acting was a parttime thing; he earned his living as a machinist. In the past 24 years he has been a full-time actor.

He was born in Montreal, and he learned to defend himself—and his name—with convincing skill. So much so that he achieved the title of Canadian light-heavyweight champion. His broadened nose attests to his experience in the ring.

Rodrigues shipped out as a seaman and worked at other jobs until the Negro Theater Guild asked him to play the title role in "Emperor Jones" at the annual Canadian Drama Festival. He won the best-actor award and started getting other acting jobs, still keeping his job as machinist with Pratt and Whitney Aircraft.

"I'm a newcomer on the American scene," he remarked. "For 15 years I worked as an actor in Canada before doing my first Broadway play, 'Toys in the Attic,' in 1960. Since 1966 I have been a Canadian, and I've done just about every dramatic TV series, as well as some features—'The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter,' a Disney film, 'Bayou Boy,' etc.

"But Canada is still my home. I have a house there that I built with my own hands 20 years ago. It's pretty hard to leave something that is so close to you."

Rodrigues has had the same wife for 27 years, and they have a married daughter and two grown sons. He has been getting home about three months a year, but that may be cut down.

He faces the rigors of acquainting the public with the new series. Earlier this month he went on a publicity cruise to Mexico; next he'll swing around the country on a personal appearance tour.

During the silver strike at Treasure City, Nev., in the 1870's, two miners built a house from rocks picked up at their role in "Emperor Jones" at the annual Canadian Drama Festival. He won the best-actor home for $75,000 in silver.

Mutual Funds Come Under Fresh Attack

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — These have been tough days for the mutual funds, what with prices depressed and government, investors and academicians sniping at one thing or another. They have also been days of growth—in numbers, not assets.

In June 1969 the Investment Company Institute, trade association of the open-end fund industry, numbered 261 members. One year later the total had risen to 323, although assets had shrunk to $38 billion from $49 billion.

The trend seems clear: The number of funds doesn't depend upon the success of funds. They are permanent and growing aspect of the securities industry, and that growth could accelerate as insurance companies enter the field.

The latest criticism of the industry comes in a book to be published Monday by researchers at the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce. Called "Mutual Funds and Other Institutional Investors: A New Perspective," it faults the industry for probably contributing to excessive price swings for smaller and more speculative stocks during the past decade.

Prior to publication, however, the authors have hurled another spear into the side of this mammoth industry. During the first half of 1970, they state, a sample of mutual funds actually performed worse than an unmanaged portfolio.

Such criticism by now has a familiar sound, because that long has been struck several times before. But there are still some questions that could be the subject of scholarly analysis in the very near future.

First, is there a potential conflict of interest in as many as 12 supposedly independent funds being sponsored by one management company?

Each of these funds, it is to be expected, would desire to keep its activities hidden from its neighbor, because they are competitors in the marketplace even though each contributes to the profits of the same company. But do they?

The president of a company that manages a dozen funds was asked to comment.

"Our entire investment group of 65 people has a 40-minute meeting each morning," he said. "We review all transactions of the previous day—all the buys and sells of the entire group."

In other words, one fund always knows what the other is doing? "Of course." As a matter of fact, he related, there are about six instances a year when one fund in the group sells and another fund picks up the same stock.

It's all above board. But, since there is a trend toward multiple funds under one umbrella manager, the situation seems to suggest study. The concerted efforts of a dozen funds, after all, can make or break a stock.

Second, what is the effect on "corporate democracy" of the increasing institutionalization of the market?

The theory of corporate democracy is that each shareholder is entitled to a vote, and thereby is able to exercise an impact, however slight, on company management. But can a mutual fund exercise this right fully?

Asked about this, the same fund executive replied:

"In the old days, the philosophy was that if you didn't like management you simply sold the stock. That is not valid anymore."

"If issues arise we will make our views known, primarily on the financial side, especially if it concerns a new issue that might dilute values. But we don't try to tell them how to make their product."

Are proxies exercised, he was asked? "Yes, of course. We always endorse management," he said. Which suggests the question: If corporate democracy is to have validity, can investors merely be rubber stamps for management?

On the other hand, does the power of institutions constitute a threat to effective management of a corporation? Someday, somehow, it seems probable that an institutional investor will back management into a corner. Is this proper?

And who represents the institution's interest on the board of directors? Figure that one out: If the mutual funds seeks a seat then it quickly becomes privy to inside information and faces a clearcut conflict of interest.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SALE
The undersigned will offer for sale, at public auction on the 29th day of August, 1970, at the late residence of Edgar Vernon Coss, deceased, 1204 Rawlings Street, Washington C. DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A XYDLBAAXR

is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

University Sued For $1,050,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Washington University is being sued for a rebate of $1,050,000 in tuition fees because it closed four days during a student strike last May.

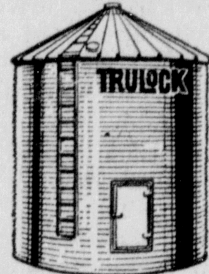

Sixteen students filed the suit Wednesday. The total sought is based on a pro-rated loss of $75 in tuition for each of the 14,000 students enrolled last spring.

"We expect the university to fulfill its obligations by keeping its door open and the educational process functioning," the 16 said in a statement.

Classes did not meet May 5-8. Examinations were conducted later as scheduled, and no students lost credits for missing the four days.

State Patrolman Justified In Shooting, Jury Declares

MURRAY, Ky. (AP) — A six-man Calloway County coroner's jury ruled Thursday Ohio State Trooper Samuel E. Hamblin was defending himself and his family when he shot and killed a gunman attempting to steal the family car.

The 29-year-old trooper's father, Luther Charles Hamblin, 56, Lucasville, Ohio also was killed in the shootout Wednesday evening, which occurred as the family was launching a boat in the blood River section of Kentucky Lake.

Samuel Hamblin was listed as a resident of Circleville, Ohio. The jury also said the elder Hamblin's death resulted from a shot fired by Jackie Boyd, 29, of Calloway County, who was charged with murder in the shooting death Sunday of another Calloway County man, Eddie Hargrove, 25.

The jury's verdict said the shots which killed Boyd "were fired by Samuel E. Hamblin in self defense and in defense of Samuel E. Hamblin's father and immediate family."

THE HAMBLIN family, including Luther Hamblin's wife and daughter, was vacationing at the lake.

Dennis Kaufman, Murray, who was acting as a guide for the Hamblins, was wounded in the ankle during the fray and treated at a Murray hospital.

In reporting the incident, State Police Capt. Marvin Monroe said Boyd apparently was hiding in some weeds near the shore when he came out and demanded the family car at gunpoint. The gun battle followed, Monroe said.

The county grand jury still has the option of investigating the shooting at a later date.

County School Board To Open Bids Monday

The Fayette County Board of Education will meet at 2:30 p.m. Monday to accept bids and award contracts on foodstuffs, fuel and insurance.

Bids on insurance for buses, buildings and equipment will be opened, as will the bids on coal, gas, oil and cafeteria supplies.

The transfer of students from overcrowded elementary schools also will be discussed, according to Superintendent Guy M. Foster. The schools involved are Chaffin, Staunton, Bloomingburg and Madison Mills.

Two resignations of high school teachers also are expected at the meeting.

The board will consider hiring Title I reading teachers and teachers' aides, according to Foster.

Social Security System Notes 35th Birthday

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Social Security, subject of raging controversy in its infancy, is 35 years old today.

Some of the chief architects of the Social Security Act are holding a little party in Ann Arbor during a break in the 23rd annual Conference on Aging.

"It was a great day," recalled Wieur Cohen, who was a 22-year-old researcher in the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt and helped draft the act. "Everybody was elated about it."

Cohen later worked for the Social Security Board and years later supervised Social Security operations as secretary of health, education and welfare under President Lyndon B. Johnson. He is now dean of the College of Education at the University of Michigan, which is host to the Conference on Aging.

Cohen recalled the sharp attacks on the act by Alf Landon, Roosevelt's 1936 opponent for president, who called it "a cruel hoax on the working man."

When Roosevelt signed the act Aug. 14, 1935, even some of the Democratic administration were concerned that it would be overturned by the Supreme Court, Cohen said. The court upheld it in 1937.

Cohen attributed the Supreme Court decision to Roosevelt's overwhelming victory over Landon and to his efforts to enlarge the court. Cohen said "the Supreme Court got the message and began changing."

"That is why I say Roosevelt's effort to pack the court was successful."

Arthur Altmeyer, 79, first commissioner of Social Security, was invited for today's ceremonies in Ann Arbor. He is the only surviving member of the original Social Security Board, Cohen said.

He said Roosevelt would surely be surprised to hear that some of his old Republican foes had come to support Social Security. He said life insurance now in force under the act equals all the private life insurance in effect—or $1 trillion.

Tway Named Head Of Pomona Grange

MADISON MILLS — Nathaniel Tway, a member of Forest Shade Grange, will succeed Wayne Hidy, of Goodwill Grange, as master of Pomona Grange for the coming year.

He was elected at the meeting here Thursday night. Other officers chosen are Winfred Morgan, overseer; Mrs. Charles Cook, lecturer; Charles Cook, steward; Kenneth Arnold, assistant steward; Mrs. Kenneth Arnold, lady assistant steward; Mrs. Ottie Smith, chaplain; Homer Wilson, treasurer; Miss Louise Ritter, secretary; Roscoe Whiteside, gatekeeper; Miss Maurice Sollars, Ceres; Miss Helen Perrill, Flora; Mrs. Roscoe Whiteside, Pomona; Mrs. Homer Wilson, pianist; and Wayne Hidy, a member of the executive committee.

No date for the installation has been set, but indications are that it will be at a combined ceremony with those of the four subordinate Granges.

Mrs. Donna Oberschlake was welcomed as a new member, and the annual reports for three of the four subordinate Granges were made by Winfred Morgan for Forest Shade, Kenneth Arnold for Marshall, and Mrs. Margaret Shobe for Goodwill. There was no report from Good Hope Grange.

Marion Waddle and Kenneth Payton explained plans for the proposed three-county vocational school and made an appeal for support of the $2,488,000 bond issue for the proposed Miami Trace District middle school.

The master announced that the annual sewing and baking contests will be held at the Oct. 8 meeting with Forest Shade Grange at New Martinsburg.

Panel Discussion Set By TOPS Club

The CHOP TOPS chapter weigh-in was held Wednesday evening in the Eastside School gymnasium, prior to going to Eyman Park for a "payoff" picnic for the last contest. Miss Shirley Haynes was chairman for the evening.

Mrs. Lucy Kingery was crowned "queen of the week" and Mrs. Ed McConaughy was the "stork queen." Mrs. McConaughy also won a guessing contest.

It was announced that the last of a series of three panel programs will be sponsored by the CHOP TOPS chapter in Eastside School at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday Mrs. Kay Lutes, area supervisor, will be present and a local physician will be one of the members of the panel.

Members are urged to come early for weigh-ins.

Officers Investigate Auto Theft, Reported Abduction

A Washington C. H. man's car was stolen from his garage, two persons were arrested on fraudulent check charges and officers are investigating the reported abduction of a 17-year-old girl abandoned here overnight.

Wesley Cox, 112 Gardner Ct., reported to city police at 7:30 a.m. Friday that his 1968 model station wagon was stolen during the night from his garage.

Cox said he parked the vehicle inside at about 10:30 p.m. Thursday and it was missing when he prepared to leave for work Friday morning. The car, valued at $2,200 bears license plate number 3964 KP. It has not yet been recovered.

A 17-year-old Columbus girl is in protective custody of city police pending her release to her parents Friday after she was allegedly abducted and abandoned in Washington C. H.

THE GIRL told officers that she was baby-sitting for a couple in Columbus Thursday night and was abducted by the husband on his pretense of taking her home.

She related that the man drove around Grove City, Harrisburg and Washington C. H., at one point running out of gas, before taking her to a Washington C. H. hotel. She also alleges that the abductor took $18 from her purse.

City police said the matter would be referred to the Columbus Police Department and Franklin County Juvenile Court.

Fred Lee Miller, 42, of 627 Comfort Lane, was arrested by city police on two warrants charging him with issuing insufficient funds checks.

Ralph Templin, manager of the Ashland Oil Station, 810 Highland Ave., filed one of the charges for an insufficient funds check written for $20. The other charge was filed by the manager of Buckeye Mart, Washington Square Shopping Center, and was made payable for $50.

SHERIFF'S deputies arrested Marjorie R. Bowman, 25, of 317 S. North St., on a warrant issued in Highland County. She is charged with cashing a fraudulent check issued by another person, according to sheriff's deputies here.

City police, within minutes after it was reported stolen, recovered a bicycle which had been stripped of wheels and handlebars Thursday. Filing the larceny report was Vicki McKinney, 602 E. Temple St. The bike was found abandoned on Paint Street.

Two graduates of the 87th Ohio State Highway Patrol Academy have been assigned to the Patrol's Wilmington Post, bringing its strength to 13.

They are James E. Ephlin, 23, of Ashland, and Lawrence D. Merritt, 23, of Columbus. Both have been assigned to veteran officers for the prescribed training period.

Ephlin is a native of Missouri and Merritt of North Carolina. Lt. Robert Kline is the officer in charge of the Wilmington Post.

Election Fund Curb Sparks Partisan Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee has touched off a bitter, partisan fight by approving a bill to restrict broadcast campaign spending for major public offices in this year's general election.

Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott, R-Pa., one of the four GOP conferees who voted against the measure, said the compromise bill represented a "frantic effort by Democrats to save some of their candidates."

The GOP members from both the House and Senate refused to sign the conference report, largely because the six Democratic members included the provision making the restrictions take effect this fall.

A vote on the compromise bill is scheduled today in the House before the beginning of a three and one-half week recess.

The House-Senate conferees met behind closed doors twice to iron out differences in the bill designed to cut into the sharply rising cost of running for office.

The House-passed version called for the restrictions to take effect next Jan. 1, clearly exempting the fall elections this year.

The Senate specified that the bill go into effect 30 days after enactment.

The bill sets a limit of 7 cents a vote cast in the last general election or $20,000, whichever is higher, as the spending ceiling for covered candidates. It applies to those running for president, vice president, Senate, House, governor and lieutenant governor.

DIVORCE SUIT DISMISSED

A divorce suit filed by Kathie DeWees, 622 High St., against Paul DeWees, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., has been dismissed in Common Pleas Court at the request of the plaintiff.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Shirley Forsha, 317 Rose Ave., has been granted a divorce in Common Pleas Court from Robert Forsha on grounds of neglect of duty and cruelty. The plaintiff was awarded custody of the two children, support, household goods and a car, plus attorney fees and court costs. The defendant was ordered to pay all outstanding bills.

The collision caused damage estimated at $250 to the 1970 model cycle and $20 to Hawkins' 1970 model car. Wallingford was charged with passing at an intersection by city police.

In the only other mishap investigated Thursday, damage was estimated at $20 to a parked truck at 6:51 p.m. in the 100 block of E. Court Street.

Officers said a Scioto Coca-Cola Bottling Co. truck driven by Ronald Elliott, 36, Rt. 1, Washington C. H., brushed a parked semi tractor owned by a Cleveland leasing firm. The semi was parked too far from the curb, officers said, and a parking violation citation was issued.

Reaction To Porno Panel's Paper No Suprise To Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon was warned months ago he would be blamed for a proposal to liberalize the nation's obscenity laws if he didn't fire the Commission on Pornography staff and most of its members, a packet of letters has disclosed.

The letters from Charles H. Keating Jr., Nixon's lone commission appointee, were released Thursday by Rep. Robert N. C. Nix, D-Pa., after the White House disclaimed the commission and called it former President Lyndon B. Johnson's.

Auditor's '70 Report Released

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The office of State Auditor Roger Cloud began distribution today of the annual auditor's report of all financial transactions of the state for the fiscal year ended June 30.

The report shows total receipts of $3.2 billion from all sources, up $315.9 million, and overall expenditures of $3.1 billion, up $355.3 million. Revenues included bond and note sales of $270 million and expenditures totaling $491.2 million.

The report said the general revenue fund, the backbone of all normal state functions, received $1,661,802,665, with expenditures of $1,666,841,280.

A breakdown of collections from all sources showed that 44 cents of every dollar received came from the sales and use tax, while beer, liquor and cigarettes accounted for 18 cents; corporation franchise and utility taxes, 14 cents; federal grants, 14 cents, and all other taxes 10 cents.

Fifty-three cents of every dollar spent went for education, of which 37 cents went for schools and 16 cents for higher education. Other figures show that 28 cents were spent for welfare, 12 cents for mental health, corrections and youth, and seven cents for other services.

Trade Bill Bans Nations With Narcotics Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — A last-minute provision written into the foreign trade bill would strike at countries permitting uncontrolled production of illegal narcotics for this country.

The bill was cleared for the House Wednesday by the Ways and Means Committee.

The amendment, by Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, would authorize the President to impose an embargo or suspension of trade with such a nation.

Committee sources said, however, the report to accompany the bill will specifically note that Turkey, a major grower of opium poppies, has moved to limit and control production and is taking further measures.

NATO Still Needed, Officials Say, Despite New Treaty

BRUSSELS (AP) — Now that the Soviet Union and West Germany have promised not to use force against one another, some people are sure to suggest that there is no longer any good reason for the North Atlantic Alliance—that the chief danger of a European war has disappeared.

This kind of talk gets no support at the headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization outside Brussels.

NATO officials are not commenting officially; the private view generally is that the treaty helps relax tensions but does not mean the allies can let down their guard.

NATO diplomats believe that the treaty only became possible because West German Chancellor Willy Brandt's foreign allies were firmly behind him.

The point of the Atlantic Alliance, as these diplomats see it, is that America and Western Europe must depend on one another for defense, not against the comparatively mild policy today of the men who rule the Soviet Union but against any shift to a new aggressive policy that those men or their successors might make. Weakening the Atlantic Alliance might encourage such a shift, they think.

Another recent step in the same direction has been the talk about reducing the number of troops in Europe.

But the governments in the alliance are likely to insist, as Secretary-General Manlio Brosio did in a recent speech, that any new system will have to be worked out with the support and participation of NATO.

He and his colleagues argue that because the Western allies have held together for the 21 years of NATO's history, Soviet leaders have seen that aggression would be futile. The diplomats think no quantity of treaties can match the effectiveness of united defense in preventing war.

Nevertheless support can be expected to grow for the idea of talks with the Soviets on a new system of security for Europe. At the end of NATO's last big meeting in Rome nearly three months ago, success in the Soviet-West German negotiations was mentioned as one of the first steps toward such a conference.

Collectors' Show May Be Biggest Of Current Season

Notices sent to members of the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association emphasize that "campers and trailers will not be allowed on the Fairground before Friday" but they started coming in for the weekend show Thursday.

Kenneth Craig, president, and Coyt A. Stookey, secretary-treasurer, said this created something of a problem, but admitted it was an indication that one of the biggest, if not the biggest, show of the season is in store Saturday and Sunday.

Craig explained that the Association rents the fairground and three buildings for only Saturday and Sunday and that is the reason for the restrictions on trailers and campers.

Stookey predicted that every bit of available space in the Mahan, Fine Arts and Youth buildings will be occupied by displays of guns, Indian relics and an assortment of other collectors' items.

The flea market will be spread all over the area surrounding the three buildings. Feature of this month's show will be a display of old Savage guns. Since this is the 75th anniversary of the Savage Co., it has been invited to have a display of both antique and modern Savage arms. No word regarding it has been received, however.

Craig noted that, although Savage is best known for its rifles and shotguns, the company did make a few handguns. The handguns, he added, are scarce and valuable collector's items.

Snake oil elixir returns

The old-time medicine show hawk made some magnificent claims for his cure-all . . . just as many door-to-door vitamin salesmen are doing today. But the important thing is, does he know what ails you? After all, he's a salesman . . . probably on his way to the next town. Your professional health team is here today and here tomorrow. Only your physician is qualified to determine your health needs. We're always available to supply the medication prescribed.
